SKINNY KRIBBLES

Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

My friend Martin Murray, the Huntington Beach weather prophet, thinks we might get a little rain Sept. 25 if the continent chills a little. For October the most likely rain dates are set for the 9th and the 23rd. In November he hopes some rain will come along the 6th and the 19th, and so do I. Martin has three wet dates set for December—3rd, 17th and 30th. That closes up the 1937 predictions. He hopes to usher in the New Year with a rain Jan. 12 and a repeat in the same month on the 27th. That will be a Happy New Year, indeed. He has two rains scheduled for February, the 9th and 23rd, and two for March, the 8th and the 23rd. April 6 and 20 are to have rain, and the season's predictions close for the year with a rain on May 5th and the 19th. The cheerful hope is expressed by Mr. Murray that it is reasonable to suppose that we will have ample rain again this year, but this optimism is somewhat dimmed by the prediction that there is a possibility of another freeze. I am in hopes that my friend Murray is correct in all of his wet predictions, but in error about the frost.

Saw parking meters in Bakersfield. No one using them, but that was because my observation took place at 2 o'clock in the morning. Interviews were so sporadic, inconclusive and indifferent that for a while I wasn't sure my contacts knew there were any parking meters in Bakersfield. And I concluded they didn't care. Bakersfield is prosperous, irrespective of curb comment.

Saturday forenoon. Most of the good people who talked to me were convinced that the temperature had started to boil. There was one lone dissenter. He had his coat collar turned up, but I don't believe he knew it. So, it is proven that where ignorance is bliss, it is unwise for you to be disillusioned.

Movement launched today to discourage jaywalking. I'm in favor of it because I am with a chronic offender every day. And if it were not for the compassion and alertness of his friends he would have long since been out of commission. So strong is the influence of habit. Anything which will check risk is in the interest of public safety. To that extent every pedestrian is expected to contribute. In this regard I am in favor of the motorist stopping for pedestrians where pedestrian signs are placed at intersections, and I am also in favor of pedestrians negotiating those intersections with promptness, and not in the leisurely and impudent manner in which I have seen some of them do. Courtesy is an exchangeable commodity.

Haven't voted yet on this war question. Our foreign policy is so complicated that it even has Secretary Hull puzzled. I assume. Whether we fight or not is a moot question. Fighting seems to be a part of the human system. Cave men started it. The Neanderthals had to scrap for their existence. Fighting seemed to have been given such a positive impulse it's been moving every since. The Apostle Paul was against it. And apostolized mankind "as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men," but he left the inference that the time might arise when it wasn't possible to live peaceably with all men, so what then?

Broadway between Fourth and Fifth is all cut up and roughing it. Machine is digging up the pavement, another loading, and a few individuals operating jack-hammers. There is such a clatter that Bert Campbell can't sleep. So, back to the mines with progress. Bert must have his beauty nap.

I agree with Councilman Plummer Bruns that we need a park, but I would like to raise him ten. Plummer proposes the smaller park for the south part of the city and I favor the larger. The way Santa Ana is growing it wouldn't be long before an acre would be

Chinese Beaten Back; Spain Accuses Italy

Lines North of Shanghai in Retreat

Defenders Adopt New Strategic Positions

SHANGHAI (AP)—Under heavy fire from Japanese land and sea batteries, the Chinese army abandoned the hotly-fought Kiangwan salient north of Shanghai today and withdrew all forces to the powerfully fortified second line defense network of trenches stretching from Shanghai 25 miles to the northwest.

The Chinese retreat was orderly and strategic to prepared positions which they had expected to fall back on as soon as the full force of Japan's mechanized advance surged against them.

The Japanese followed hard on the heels of the retreating Chinese and quickly occupied the Far Eastern race course and the now completely ruined Kiangwan civic center. The Chinese had held the area for a full month against the fiercest Japanese assaults.

Most of the victims were Chinese refugees who had fled into the foreign sections. Sixty had died in the last 48 hours.

Three days of relentless air and artillery bombardment, at the same time, had started a series of new and extensive fires in Kiangwan, Yangtzepoo and Hongkew, war desolated districts to the north and west of the foreign areas.

Thrusting hard against the center of the Japanese first line at Yangtze, the Chinese rushed up reinforcements in an effort to turn the withdrawal into a rout.

The Chinese held fast, however, and fought a furious covering action to protect the establishment of the new positions.

All day Sunday and all last night the battle raged through the streets.

Fullerton Man Wins Honor

Ralph Layton, Fullerton post-office employee, Saturday was elected president of the national association of 20-30 clubs at the organization's annual convention in Reno.

The Twenty-Thirtians selected El Paso, Tex., as next year's convention city after a battle with delegates from Long Beach, who made a strong bid for the 1938 conclave.

National vice president of the 20-30 association for the past year, Layton was unopposed for the presidency. He is a former Southern California district president and a past president of the Fullerton club.

U. S. Nazis Leap To Limelight

(Editor's Note: International developments today present a complex picture. The accompanying article is the first in a group in which The Journal will help its readers to interpret world-wide news. Dr. John Brown Mason, author of the accompanying article, is an instructor at Santa Ana Junior college. He was born in Germany of American parentage and received his early schooling there. He took his doctor of philosophy degree at the University of Wisconsin and recently has done further graduate work at Claremont Colleges.)

By JOHN BROWN MASON

Our newspapers and pictorial reviews are taking increasing notice of Nazi organizations in this country. Several congressmen and senators charge them with subversive and illegal activities, including drilling with arms and planning to get control of the American government. J. Edgar Hoover has announced that his G-men are investigating these groups and that a report on their findings will soon be forthcoming.

In answer to these charges, Nazi leaders in America state that they have no objection to a government investigation.

A few years ago the so-called Friends of the New Germany, an avowed Nazi organization in this country, found themselves in hot water in New York, due to some apparent conflicts with American laws. Its leader whose name was Spanknoebel, suddenly disappeared to avoid arrest and has not been heard of since. Upon orders from Berlin, the organization was dissolved and a new one formed, known as the Americanische Volksbund, which may be translated as American-German Folk League.

Assuredly, they accept only American citizens into membership, though there seems to be room for important exceptions to this rule. The national leader of this group is Fritz Kuhn, a chemist on leave of absence from the Ford Motor company of Detroit.

The Volksbund disclaims any connection with the Nazi party in Germany. At the same time, it is in close touch with a department of the National Socialist party, which corresponds with and aids Germans living in foreign countries. This so-called foreign section of the party was recently absorbed into the German foreign section.

'Pigs Is Pigs' Author Dies

HOUSTON, Mass. (AP)—Ellis Parker Butler, 67, humorist, whose whimsical stories have entertained the nation for the last three decades, died here today of complications which followed several years of ill health. He was the author of that famous story, "Pigs Is Pigs," and the creator of the character "Jibby Jones," beloved by American youth.

FDR'S SON TO WED

NAHANT, Mass. (AP)—The engagement of John Roosevelt, son of President Roosevelt, to Miss Anne Lindsay Clark, Boston debutante, was announced today by Mrs. F. Haven Clark of Boston and Nahant.

Heat Records of Year Smashed

Talk about the weather was the main subject of conversation in Santa Ana today as the mercury rose to the highest point of the year.

Mercury in the official thermometer at the Knox and Stout recording station hit 97 at 1 p. m. It was 95 at noon yesterday, and the peak yesterday was at noon, but it was likely that the mercury would soar higher this afternoon as the heat wave continued, with little relief in sight.

All Orange county sweltered in the heat today, after the hottest week-end of the year. Beaches were crowded. While the ocean water had cooled down to the 65.5

League Halts Anti-Spain Movement

Pirate Sub Believed Sunk; Crew Alive

GENEVA (AP)—The League of Nations rebuffed an attempt to unseat the Spanish government from its assembly today at the outset of a tense, closely guarded session which is to hear a Spanish accusation of Italy as a Mediterranean pirate power.

While the assembly met, France and Great Britain assembled a mighty fleet of 60 men-of-war to drive mysterious raiders from the inland sea. Already there were unconfirmed reports from Spanish Cartagena, on the Mediterranean, that a pirate submarine, her crew still alive, lay blasted and crippled under the water.

The Spanish Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco, in a letter to the League, contended his government was the only one representing the will of the Spanish people.

But the League credentials committee decided credentials of the Valencia delegation were in order and the assembly seated it.

RECOGNIZE ETHIOPIA

The Assembly likewise spiked any Mussolinian hopes that the League would expel Ethiopia, which he has conquered—from membership. No voice was raised against Ethiopia during the session of the credentials committee. Her right to continue in membership as an independent nation, although she actually now belongs to Italy, was not questioned.

Neither Italy nor Ethiopia was represented by a delegate but the deposed emperor, Haile Selassie, sent a letter expressing his continued "faith in the League."

British naval authorities were unable to confirm in any way the Cartagena report, from unofficial Spanish government sources, of the sunken submarine.

Should the boat be raised it likely would answer the grave question that has caused the most serious European crisis since the outbreak of the Spanish civil war a year and three months ago. The Spanish government and Moscow, its ardent supporter, has flatly accused Italian warships of waging indiscriminate war on Mediterranean shipping.

NEGRO IN CHAIR

Italy has counter-charged that the Valencia government is representing the will of the Spanish people.

Publisher Dies At Anaheim

William H. Wright, 53, who has been editor and publisher of the Orange County News, during his six years residence in Anaheim, died suddenly at his home on North Lemon street last night. He was a native of Kansas.

Mr. Wright is survived by his widow, Margaret F. Wright, one son, William Joseph Wright of Santa Ana; one sister, Mrs. L. J. Brown of Smith Center, Kas.; and one brother, Roy C. Wright of Oklahoma City, Okla. Funeral services will be conducted from the Hilgenfeld Funeral home in Anaheim at 2 p. m. Wednesday.

Fire Near Oil Tanks Reported

State forestry crews from Orange headquarters rushed to the Texaco storage plant at Los Alamitos at noon today in response to a report that fire had broken out near a large number of oil tanks, but found no fire.

The call, State Forester Joe Scherman reported, was relayed through the Garden Grove fire department, and he was unable to locate the person who sent in the original call.

1937 RETURNS ALMOST UP TO LAST YEAR'S

58 Pct. Orange Crop Sold Despite Freeze

By KENNETH ADAMS

Jack Frost broke Orange county's citrus picture up into a jigsaw puzzle last winter. But today as the end of the Valencia season rapidly approached a close, the pieces started to fit together. And these were the results:

1. Orange county's total income from Valencia oranges this season will amount to at least $18,000,000, only about a million and a half below last year.

2. Frost damage averaged 42 per cent in the entire county, enabling cooperative and independent associations to market 58 per cent of the entire crop.

With 52 per cent of the Valencia crop marketed, it was possible to obtain the first definite facts about the current season. Figures obtained by The Journal from managers of central associations and others showed that so far a total of $13,547,831 has poured into this county from sale of Valencia oranges. The figures are based upon f. o. b. prices.

The season is coming to a close. Already 17 packing houses have closed, according to Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs. There are still 30 houses operating, but many of these are tapering off and will close within a few weeks. What fruit is left to market is of a high grade, and is expected to bring top prices.

Packing houses affiliated with the Orange County Fruit exchange have shipped 3482 cars of fruit, with 462 boxes to the car. The Central Orange County Citrus exchange has shipped 500 cars, with about 75 cars to go. Up north, the Northern Orange County exchange has shipped 1030 cars, with 15 cars to go yet. The Placencia Orange County exchange has shipped 1200 cars, and has yet to market about 150 cars of Valencia. Mutual Orange Distributors officials said that about 1500 cars of Valencia were shipped.

Flood Engineer Sent Here

Assignment of an engineer by United States army officials to oversee Orange county's $15,248,000 flood control and water conservation project was announced today by Captain Cruise, district army engineer at Los Angeles.

The engineer is R. P. Spencer, veteran civilian engineer connected with the army staff of engineers. He was in Santa Ana today, making arrangements for establishing a local district office, from which the water project work will be directed.

Spencer probably will be here until the water project is completed. His appointment marked the latest step in the government's plans to build eight big dams to control floods and conserve water. Spencer now is looking for local offices. A call for bids to lease offices has been issued, and the bids will be opened next Thursday in the Los Angeles army engineers' office at 715 South Figueroa street.

Georgia Child Bride Has Son

HAPEVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Cochran, 14-year-old bride, was a mother today, but declared, "I never want to have any more babies."

A nine-pound, blue-eyed son was born early Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Snell. Her husband is 21-year-old Thomas Cochran, a garage assistant.

Elizabeth exhibited her baby proudly and said: "It doesn't matter about the age as long as you are in love."

Police Search for Missing Girl

Disappearance of a 15-year-old Mexican girl last Friday began to cause apprehension among police here today.

The girl, Anita Martinez, 1032 Lincoln street, may have eloped to Arizona to be married.

Claim Appointee Again Member Of Ku Klux Klan

Senators Walsh, Copeland Attack Appointee After Documents Bared; Allegation Denied

NEW YORK. (AP)—United States Senator Royal S. Copeland brought the name of Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black into the New York mayoralty campaign today, referring to new allegations that the former Alabama senator was and is now again a member of the Ku Klux Klan and demanding his resignation "at once" from the supreme court bench.

6245 RETURN TO SCHOOL

Enrollment in Santa Ana elementary and secondary schools had soared to 6245 today as classes were resumed.

Total enrollment on the first day of classes last year was 5913, and the year before it was 6084.

School officials expected late registrations this week to bring the total well past 6500 and possibly up to 7000.

Figures released early this afternoon by the board of education office showed 1218 pupils registered in the high school. Santa Ana Junior college enrollment was 645 today.

Negro Accused of Assaulting Wife

Charged with assault with a deadly weapon, Hix Duncan, 40-year-old negro of 1216 West Second street, was arraigned in justice court and a preliminary hearing set for 9:30 a. m. Sept. 16. Bail was set at $5000.

Duncan was arrested after an asserted quarrel with his wife Saturday night. Police, called to intervene in a fight at Duncan's home, said Mrs. Duncan had been badly lacerated with a knife.

Life, College Begin at 70

ELGIN, Ill. (AP)—About 50 men and women, all over 70, started back to school today. A unique college founded by a 78-year-old doctor to "make the last years of their lives happier."

Dr. Charles E. Sharp, the founder, said classes meet in a rambling frame house.

Oh, How I Love School!

Little Johnnie and Mary are back at school again, and are they happy! Well, are they happy? You ask 'em. We're afraid to. Anyhow, what we started out to say is that some mean ole teacher pulled a dirty trick on one young man who returned to school today. Yes, she really did, according to the Gay Thirties, that mirthful panel on The Journal's comic page. For bigger and better laughs, follow Journal comics.

Senator Copeland's demand was followed by Senator David I. Walsh (D., Mass.) who said that if Justice Black had not resigned "from his alleged membership" in the Klan, he felt the justice was "confirmed by the senate under a misunderstanding and misapprehension, and the president should ask for his resignation."

"If it turns out now that he is an actual member of the Klan, this may account for the speed with which his confirmation was rushed through the senate without full investigation and without advance notice to senators," Walsh said.

HITS NEW JUSTICE

Senator Copeland, Tammany anti-New Deal candidate for mayor of New York, leveled his guns against Justice Black indirectly in an attack on his opponents in the Democratic primary. Jeremiah Titus Mahoney, he accused Mahoney of having shown, by a declaration of being a "100 per cent New Dealer," that he would have sustained the appointment of Senator Black to the supreme court.

The New York senator's charges were made following publication of a copyrighted story in the New York Times, which originated in the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and was distributed by the North American Newspaper Alliance, asserting Justice Black was and "is now again" a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

Justice Black, now on vacation in Paris, could not be reached for comment on today's charges, which reopened the attack made on his alleged Klan affiliations during the senate debate on his court nomination a few weeks ago.

DENY BLACK A MEMBER

The senator's supporters, at that time, vigorously denied that he had ever belonged to the Klan. The denial was also voiced by Dr. Hiram W. Evans, head of the so-called "invisible empire."

At Hyde Park, N. Y., James Roosevelt, eldest son and private secretary to the president, quoted

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

When a customer goes into a store and asks for some particular article, a well-trained salesman will either suggest a substitute or will entertain the customer with a little light conversation until the customer thinks of something else they want to purchase. That's the reason my Cousin Hod didn't make a good salesman. He wasn't much on conversation.

He got a job in a department store down home, and one day a lady came in any says, "Do you have any demonstrations here today?" Cousin Hod says, "Nope!" The lady turned and started to walk out of the store, when she wheeled and came back to Cousin Hod and says, "You mean you have no demonstrations or no sales in a big store like this?" Cousin Hod said, "Oh, yes, we got a sale—we got a sale on bathtubs, but no demonstrations."

SEVEN HURT IN WEEK-END ACCIDENTS

Itinerant Takes Own Life at Seal Beach

Violent death struck only once—and that apparently was a self-inflicted blow—as Orange county escaped with a lighter accident toll than usual over the week-end.

A man tentatively identified as Tom Walker, Hynes, an itinerant, was the victim of what Coroner Earl Abbey believes a suicidal drowning. Seven persons sustained injuries in four county traffic accidents.

The drowning victim had been released early Saturday by Seal Beach police after being arrested when he assertedly made two attempts to climb down to the piling of the Seal Beach bridge.

BODY WASHES UP

Later that day J. Whittington, 228 Eight street, Seal Beach, said he had seen the man again trying to reach the piling.

Yesterday morning his body washed ashore at Anaheim Land. An investigation was being conducted by Coroner Abbey today to further identify the man.

Most seriously injured traffic accident victim was D. R. Blackstock, 40, Los Angeles, who sustained serious but not fatal lacerations when his car and one driven by Edward McWilliams, 50, Los Angeles, collided head-on near the County hospital on U. S. highway No. 101.

SAILOR HURT

Blackstock's wife and Mrs. John W. Childers, Alhambra, also were injured. Mr. and Mrs. Childers were riding with Blackstock when the accident occurred. Childers escaped injury.

C. H. Dean, 21-year-old sailor on the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, sustained a severed leg artery when the motorcycle he was riding assertedly collided with a car driven by Mary E. Trummer, Park Springs, then struck a parked car owned by Ed. Pagenkopf, 818 South Parton street. The accident occurred Saturday evening on North Broadway.

CAR HITS TREE

Jack Bennett, 26, 535 East Almond street, Orange, sustained bruises and lacerations and his wife was cut and bruised when the car in which they were riding swerved to avoid a car and hit a tree on Newport road near Santa Ana avenue. The car was driven by Delia B. Zedeker, 47, 208 North Cambridge street, Orange, according to a highway patrol report.

Mrs. Thelma Putnam, 35, San Diego, was slightly injured when the car driven by her husband, Arthur C. Putnam, 39, assertedly struck a car driven by Jack Love, 35, San Jacinto, as Love's car was making a left turn off the coast highway near Dana Point yesterday afternoon.

Funeral services were to be held at 3:30 p. m. today from the Brown and Wagner Funeral home. The Rev. Walter S. Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church, was to officiate.

TEAM TO DRILL

The Damascus White Shrine drill team will meet at 9 a. m. tomorrow in the Masonic temple.

Search for Marine

A Japanese soldier in Shanghai halts a rickshaw in a search for Sadao Miyajaki, Japanese marine reported missing. Efforts to find him were fruitless and the incident became one of the many that finally brought about hostilities between Japan and China. Hongkew traffic along North Szechuen and Diswell roads was stopped by Japanese searching parties in intensive efforts to locate the missing soldier.

just be an aggravation. Personally I can get along with about as little room as most of you, but if we are going to have a park, let's have one comparable with neighboring cities, and adequate to meet the growing demands of a growing city. If we buy a small park now we'll have to pay more for the adjoining ground later.

When I see those young lads wearing red caps I'm expecting any moment to hear a locomotive whistle. I cannot refrain from associating a red cap with railroad terminals. However, I'm not opposed to caps.

Days may be beyond recall but incidents are vivid. That old ordinary bicycle in Ray Steadman's "Fix-it Shop" with its high wheel leading and small one following, in the old days used to be the popular free wheeling before the introduction of the safety bicycle. If you were lithe and agile you could go from the foot pedal to the seat of the exalted without going over the handlebars, but you had to be something of an athlete to do it. I knew a fellow back in Indiana who owned one of those high-wheelers, and when he pitched over the bars he was in Ohio. The bicycle in Ray's place of business is said to have been the property at one time of Santa Ana's well known civil engineer, H. Clay Kellogg.

Anaheim Mayor Seeks League Post

Mayor Charles H. Mann of Anaheim was being boomed today for the presidency of the League of California Municipalities, as the state organization prepared to open its annual convention in San Jose.

Mayor Mann is now vice president of the state league and has been president twice of the Orange County League of Municipalities. His campaign in San Jose will have to be crammed into three hours, it was predicted, since the board of directors to be named there will meet at once to organize and name the new president.

La Habra May Leave Sewer Unit

La Habra will join the "walk-out" on the outfall sewer district, according to sentiment expressed by city councilmen there.

A meeting is being planned to discuss withdrawal, along with Orange, which already has announced plans for building its own sewage treatment plant.

PICNICS 100 GROCERS AND FAMILIES

An almost 100 per cent attendance of Red & White store owners and their families in Orange county featured a big picnic and entertainment program staged at Anaheim municipal park yesterday under direction of B. R. Manker, manager of the Smart and Final wholesale grocery concern.

It was estimated that more than 300 from all parts of the county enjoyed the picnic. The Smart and Final company served free coffee and ice cream, while the Mutual Citrus Products company of Anaheim served cold lemonade all day.

SPORTS EVENTS

The picnic was an annual affair, participated in by the Smart and Final company, Red and White store owners and employees of the firms.

Throughout the day various sports events and contests were staged, the first being a ball game. Fitted against the Red and White team was a nine from Smart and Final. The retail grocers won by a score of 13 to 4.

Winners of the horseshoe pitching contest, which was in charge of H. A. Smith, were Clyde Estey and Al Price of the Howard and Smith organization of Huntington Beach, who were threatened for a time by B. H. Baker, V. L. Motry and Tom Andrews of Santa Ana, and Jack Wallingford of Bolis.

GROCERY SCRAMBLE

One of the most hilarious events on the program was the mad scramble which ensued when a truckload of groceries was placed on a canvas and about 100 women were turned loose at a given signal to fill their shopping bags with groceries.

Contest winners included the following: Children's race, age 5 to 9, Margaret Yauer, Buddy Braden and Dick Montrose; boys' race, 9 to 13, Billy McPherson, Timmy Andrews, Jr. and Stanley Bauer; girls' race, 9 to 13, Beverly Musch, Cecilia Younes and Doris Brown; wheelbarrow race for Red and White store owners and clerks, Ray Shell and Harold Meager.

Boys' auto-giro contest, Warren Price, Buddy Braden and Gene Morrison; ladies' shoe race, Mrs. Verne Hudson, Nellie Volgelzang and Mavis Goodrich; marshmallow string-eating contest, Dick DeSmitt; Red and White store owners' rope skipping contest, O. T. Johnson, Percy Gettle and Ray Shell; husband calling contest, Mrs. Verne Hudson, Mrs. Bob Andrews and Mrs. Ben DeSmitt.

ROLLING PINS

Rolling pin throwing contest, Nellie Volgelzang; yomachusen, 50-yard foot race, Dick DeSmitt, Charles Crumley and Dafford Braden; cash and carry managers' and salesmen's race, Lee Jacobs, Dallas Valentine and George Furstch; tug of war, Red and White team composed of Louie Bauer, Jack Wallingford, B. H. Baker, V. L. Motry, C. E. Smith and Moss Koehler; wives' and husbands' relay race, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Montrose, and Mr. and Mrs. Goodrich; boys' race, 12 to 16 years, Norman Adams.

Judges of the various events were Clyde Ritener, Bob Andrews, J. E. Tobey and Jack Wallingford. Manker was assisted in making arrangements by Warren Webb, assistant manager.

G-MAN PUZZLES WITH L. A. TRIP

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was in town today, his presence attributed by unconfirmed rumor to his interest in the movie.

Whether he would confer with studio magnates on a starring venture in G-man pictures was not known to his Los Angeles staff of sleuths.

In fact, they professed amazement at being told he had flown down unostentatiously from San Francisco last Saturday night.

Rotary to Hear Head and Dexter

A dual program, featuring Horace Head, prominent attorney who has been a resident of Santa Ana valley since 1876, and Walter Dexter, Whittier state superintendent of schools, will entertain local Rotarians at their regular luncheon tomorrow in the Masonic temple. County Treasurer Terry Stephenson is program chairman.

Head is expected to speak on early days in this area, while Dr. Dexter will make a brief comment on the educational situation for California.

NAZI GROUPS LEAP INTO LIMELIGHT

office, and its head, Herr Ernest Wilhelm Bohle, was made section chief in the foreign office, which corresponds to our department of state.

ANTI-DEMOCRATIC

There is an apparent contradiction between the official assertion of Herr Bohle that the Nazi party's foreign section consists only of German citizens living abroad, and the claim of the Volksbund that its membership consists only of American citizens. Its publication, the Deutscher Weckruf (German: Reveille), as well as the organization in general, is thoroughly Nazi in tone and aims—being violently anti-democratic, anti-Jewish and anti-Communist and, for good measure, also anti-C.I.O. anti La Guardia, and anti-Centennial Mundelein.

The group recently came out in favor of Senator Copeland for mayor of New York but the senator shook them off in no uncertain terms.

POLITICAL INFLUENCE

There are, indeed, groups in the German National Socialist party who believe that they can exercise an influence on American politics through German-Americans especially organized for that purpose.

According to a recent editorial in the National Socialist Kurier of Stuttgart:

"We desire to bring back the Germans in the United States to the racial unity and common faith of all Germans. To this end the intellectual and spiritual reform of Americans of German extraction is necessary in accord with the model furnished by the old homeland.

"German-American influences thus economically strengthened and politically reactivated shall then be thrown in the balance under our leadership for the coming struggle with communism and Jews and for the American's regeneration."

With the exception of New York City, this Nazi League in America is not strong in numbers.

Many German-Americans have never heard of it, and a large majority of them are thoroughly opposed to what it stands for. The members of the Volksbund claim that American democracy can be reconciled with Nazi dictatorship.

A claim impossible of accomplishment. The essence of American government and citizenship is basically opposed to both Fascist and Communist dictatorships. Neither has a place in this country.

LEAFLETS HIT NAZI MEETING

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Spokesmen of the German-American society dismissed today as the work of Jews and Communists an airplane barrage of anti-Nazi leaflets which fell on the scene of a picnic yesterday in Hinda park.

More than 10,000 people were listening to an address by Alfred Freiherr von Klinger, German consul-general at San Francisco, when the low-flying monoplane appeared.

"We are Americans, but we are also Germans, and we must never forget our fatherland," said Von Klinger. The leaflets fluttered down among the trees.

Penn Favors Economy Plan For City Park Development

Councilman William Penn will support a park development program for Santa Ana, but it must be a program in keeping with the financial conditions in the city government.

The third councilman interviewed by The Journal to determine the attitude of the city council on public parks said he favored slowly increasing park facilities of the city. He does not favor a big capital outlay for park purposes at this time.

SMALL PARKS

Twice the city council has turned down proposals by councilmen for purchase of parksites in the city. Some time ago the council voted down a proposal to establish a 20-acre park at Washington and Flower streets, and last week decided not to buy a 2.57-acre "postage-stamp" park in the southeastern part of the city.

"I think," Councilman Penn said, "that it's a good idea to have small recreational centers in various parts of the city. The city will be able to finance such a program without much expense at one time through inheriting a number of vacant lots which have gone delinquent on the tax rolls."

ECONOMICAL PLAN

Penn said it would cost the city little for these lots, and it is possible that enough of them can be secured at one location to develop small recreational centers. In case the city needed a few more lots besides those it gets from the delinquent list, they could be purchased without great expense, Penn believes.

Penn thinks the upkeep would be too great on one big park, and out of reason for benefits derived. He pointed out that the city has made considerable progress in park development in the last five years.

sponsible for the series of attacks that brought about the determined French and British campaign to sweep the menace from their "life-line of empire." Italy, with Germany, recognizes the insurgent regime as the de facto government of Spain.

An ironic twist of League custom placed Juan Negrin, premier of the Spanish government, in the president's chair. A war-time premier, by right of rotation he was given the opportunity to make the keynote speech to the delegates who must hear two indictments of war aggression.

Dr. Negrin opened the assembly with a sharp warning that powerful world forces are directed toward "destruction of the League of Nations and of all those supporting it."

Negrin pointed sadly to the "astronomical sums" all countries are obliged to expend for armaments.

"That means the League has not been able to dispel from the world the fear of war," he asserted.

He refrained from referring to the civil war in Spain, other than to say the situation there was a matter of the gravest international concern.

Townsendites were grieved to hear of the serious injury suffered by J. I. Barber, president of the Santa Ana Club No. 12, last Wednesday in an auto wreck. He has head injuries and a fractured rib. He was taken to the hospital but is now at his home in Santa Ana Gardens, somewhat improved. His club meets at 7:30 tomorrow evening in the Santa Ana Gardens community house on the Diamond school grounds.

She adds, "Grant Henderson of Santa Ana will be our speaker Sept. 14."

It will be pleasing news to the many Townsend friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Miller, 920 1/2 South Parton that Mrs. Miller who has been very ill for some time, is now able to receive callers. He says his club will begin a study of the U. S. Constitution. He says, "It's time that folks who were born in this country should know as much about the constitution as do those who become citizens by the naturalization process." The writer thinks this is a splendid thing to do, and hopes other clubs will also begin a study.

George A. Clark, member of the Doheny Park club was in Santa Ana a few days ago. He is still back of Dr. Townsend as the needed leader of the Townsend movement, he reported to the writer.

ORANGE CLUB WINS FLOWER SHOW PRIZE

S. A. Groups Also Carry Off Awards

Surpassing all expectations of beauty and interest was the second annual Orange County Flower show held Saturday and Sunday at the Valencia hall.

A wealth of cut and growing blossoms met the eyes of the hundreds who attended the display. Particularly noticeable was the extreme selectivity used this year, with only the choicest of flowers of all types on display. Outstanding, too, was the modern theme used, with the walls lined by beautiful "still-life" arrangements, which is this year's project for garden club entries, in combination with effective window-box treatments.

The Rotary club sweepstakes prize for the best flower arrangement in the show went to a striking silhouette group entered by the Garden section of the Orange Woman's club, and a silver trophy offered to the garden club winning most points through its individual members went to the Anaheim Garden club.

Santa Ana Woman's club placed first in the still-life groupings, with a Japanese arrangement of lilies, and the Santa Ana Garden Study club won high award for its window-box arrangement of petunias, trailing begonias and maidenhair.

CHEST SHOWS EMPLOYMENT GAIN HERE

Completion of a survey of business and industry in Santa Ana reveals that more than eight per cent more persons are employed than one year ago, it was announced today by Don Jerome, chairman of the establishments division of the Community Chest campaign.

The survey which tabulated the number of persons employed in 152 business concerns employing five or more people was made in preparation for the Chest campaign and showed that while these concerns employed 3322 persons a year ago, today they have 3602 people on their pay rolls.

"Increased employment is an encouraging factor for success in the campaign which must raise the operating funds for the charity and welfare organizations of Santa Ana," Chairman Jerome said.

All business concerns employing five or more persons are to be organized, with representatives in each concern handling the solicitation of the employees. Employees will be urged to permit subscriptions to be made payable by payroll deduction at the request of the employee so that payments may be spread over a period of several pay days.

Subscriptions will be taken on a voluntary basis and no force or coercion will be tolerated, Chest officials said, but the story of the work of the agencies and the needs for the ensuing year will be carried to every home and place of business in the city.

The budget committee has spent several weeks going over the accounts of the agencies and will soon be ready to make its report and recommendation on the budget to the executive committee of the Chest, according to Chairman Fred Merker of the budget committee.

Forum to Hear of War in China

The undeclared war in China will be discussed by a newspaper correspondent who spent three years in Manchuria and China during the 1932 campaign, at the summer forum, Tuesday night. Don Cook, himself a Canadian World war campaigner, traveled in 17 out of the 19 provinces of China in 1931 and 1932, and during this period acquired a thorough knowledge of China and its people. During the fighting in Manchuria Cook was constantly in the field with the Japanese armies, and when he moved to Shanghai, in 1932, he covered the fighting with both forces. He was also present in Jehol and Chahar provinces when the Japanese armies took that territory from China by force of arms.

Cook, now a resident of Long Beach, will give his interpretation of the causes and the probable results of the current conflict.

The forum meets at the Unitarian church, at Eighth and Bush, at 7:45 p. m. every Tuesday, and is open to the public.

HUFF WINS AWARDS FOR PRIZE HERD

Hewes Park Man Takes Trophies at Fair

ORANGE.—D. Eymann Huff, Hewes Park rancher and cattle-breeder, stepped to the front in the state's cattle exhibit when he won at least seven first prizes at the state fair at Sacramento, it was learned here today.

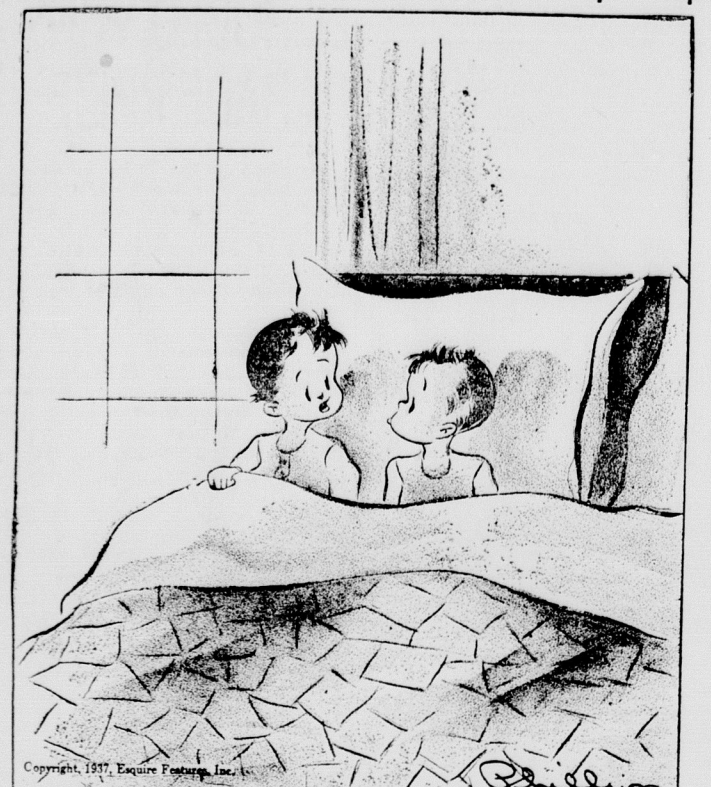

Huff received several of his herd of pure-bred Jerseys in the fair, which opened Sept. 3 and closed yesterday. Prize money for his herd is expected to top the $500 mark.

Huff was expected to return home today from his successful invasion of the state exhibit, and plans to enter his cattle in the Pomona fair, which opens next Friday, he said.

Notable awards won by the local man were for ownership of the grand champion Jersey bull and grand champion Jersey cow. He has exhibited in many cities throughout the country and has held three national sweepstakes for cattle.

CITRUS INCOME 18 MILLION

lencias have been shipped, with about 100 cars to go.

Income from valencias was based upon an average price of $3.80 per box f.o.b., which most association managers agreed was conservative. Some predicted that the total income this season would be more than last year, when the total for valencias was $19,493,520. The Journal's figures today did not include fruit shipped by independent growers so it is possible that the total income will be as much or more than last year.

DAMAGE ESTIMATE VARIES

Extent of the damage caused by last winter's freezes was apparent today, as exchange managers computed the total damage from the frosts. One association reported about 30 per cent damage, but others said the loss would be 50 and 60 per cent. The bad part of the situation was that some growers lost almost their entire crops, while others received high prices because of the short crop.

The revised merchantable crop of Southern California valencias as reported by the California-Orange and Grapefruit agency has been set at 23,750 cars which includes the entire shippable crop for the season for all shippers. This is an increase of 1000 cars as compared to the figure reported a month ago. Shipments of valencias to Sept. 4th have amounted to 18,445 cars which leaves a merchantable crop as of Sept. 5th of 5305 carloads, which compares with 5796 cars shipped, packed and loaded, after the comparable date last year.

MARKET STRONG

The California valencia orange market is strong with a fairly active demand. Fruit, however, arriving for sale in the markets showing decay or waste would be any other cause is being discounted quite heavily. With a decreasing amount of competition from deciduous and seasonal fruits, and with the supplies rolling to market in line with the anticipated demand for this season of the year, seems reasonable to expect continued favorable marketing opportunity for valencia oranges for the balance of the season.

From Washington, D. C., The Journal received word today that the agricultural department said that on the basis of Sept. 1 conditions, the 1937-38 orange crop should be somewhat larger than that of 1936-37 when production was reduced by freezes in California.

LEMON CONDITION 'LOW'

Conditions of California lemons was described as "materially below" the ten year 1923-32 average.

The Sept. 1 condition of oranges in California, the department said, was only 74 per cent, compared with a 10 year average of 80 per cent, while on the same date the Florida condition was 75 per cent compared with 79 per cent.

The department said the condition of grapefruit declined during August in all states except Arizona.

In Florida the Sept. 1 condition was given as 51 per cent compared with the ten year average of 73 per cent, but although the set on fruit is light, groves were said to be in good condition with plenty of moisture for development of fruit.

The Texas condition was below that of a year ago but better than that of the two previous years, while the California condition was described as "only fair."

RETAIL PETROLEUM DEALERS TO MEET

Discussion of the Unfair Marketing Practices act, Fair Trade act and Wages bill as they pertain to service station operators will be the subject of the meeting of the newly organized Orange county chapter of the Retail Petroleum Dealers association.

The meeting will be held at Weber's Bakery hall, 2636 North Main street, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

Sixty-five Orange county dealers organized the chapter at a meeting in the city hall here three weeks ago. Bill Rainbolt, Fullerton, was named president, Don Hobbs, Anaheim, vice-president, and Ralph Sharpe, Santa Ana, secretary.

New York Stocks

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, (AP)—Stock market leaders crashed in new low territory for 2 years or longer today following an opening rally inspired by action of the government in withdrawing $300,000,000 in sterilized gold to lighten credit needs.

At the worst prices tumbled 10 to 7 points. There were a few gains as much as 13 or 20. In the feverish gyrations of the list, the ticker tape frequently lagged, at one time, being behind about 5 minutes.

Some support appeared in the final hour, with a number of pivotal stocks cutting sizable portions from their extreme declines. Many, however, dragged bottom when the closing gong sounded.

Brokers reported liquidation and short selling from many quarters. Distress offerings from those unable to come up with margin calls were said to have been pronounced. Many stop-loss orders were touched off in the downfall.

Despite the monetary move by Washington, the financial sector continued to exhibit uneasiness over Far Eastern and European affairs. Business prospects for the fall were said to have been a retarding market influence.

Transfers were in the neighborhood of 2,600,000 shares.

BUND BRINGS CONCERN IN COUNTY

Explanation of New Organization Given

"What in blazes are these Nazis and Fascists up to?"

That question last week worried jittery senators, puzzled G-men and shrieking headlines all over the country.

Today mystified Santa Anans' curiosity had turned to personal concern, following The Journal's discovery Saturday of a little-known ring of Orange county German-Americans affiliated with the German-American Bund and Amerikadeutscher Volksbund, organizations named in the East as central cogs in the Nazi movement.

NO NAZI CLAIMS

Political observers here began to wonder what this American Nazi movement—accused in Chicago of being "a relatively small, but rapidly growing army preparing to seize control of the United States, but not till the Communist revolution started"—was all about, and why they hadn't heard of it before.

In the first place, the Bund does not claim to be a Nazi organization, although it admittedly is sympathetic with the present German regime, spokesmen told The Journal.

In the second place, it isn't an Orange county organization. It has 20 to 100 members from this district, but they meet with the Los Angeles unit. An estimated 90 per cent of the German-Americans living in the northern part of the county have never heard of the Bund, and it is in no way connected with any existing county German clubs, churches or other organizations.

SILVER SHIRTS

Members claim its activities are not particularly secret, and invite outside guests to outings held periodically in Hinderburg park at Los Angeles. They also invite speakers from the Silver Shirts, a Fascist organization, and the American Crusaders, another Fascist type of organization whose main doctrine is anti-Communism.

The triple tieup, if any, between the Bund, Silver Shirts and American Crusaders is strictly an unofficial one.

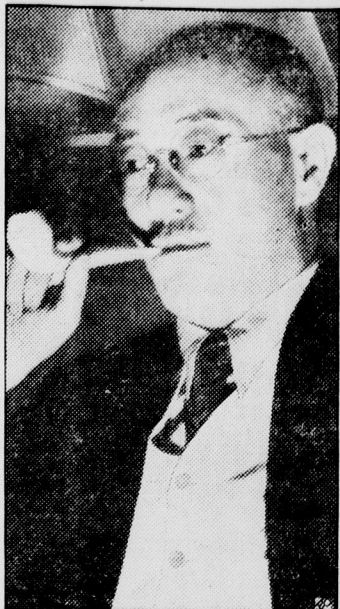

Uniforms "roughly resembling those worn by the American Legion" and not those "strangely suggestive of those worn by Adolf Hitler's storm troops," are worn during Bund demonstrations, local members said. Nazi Germany's flag is carried—but subordinated to the American flag—in all parades.

DOUBLE LOYALTY

Bund loyalty, as set forth in its national constitution, is to the American government and to the mother country, though members insist the only official loyalty to the Nazi party is an implied one because Hitler currently represents the German nation.

The Bund has no quarrel with the American government. The Journal was told—except if it finds Communistic elements have crept in. It claims it is prepared to fight—"through every lawful means of disposal"—not only

'Jap Marauders'

Calmly smoking his pipe, Chengting T. Wang, Chinese ambassador to the United States, called attacking Japanese forces "marauders" and indicated China would try not only to defeat them, but also to regain her lost provinces, including Manchoukuo.

New Quarantine Post Announced

Citrus-destroying pests lurking in tourists' baggage had another barrier to bother them today, with establishment of a plant quarantine inspection station six miles north of Vidal, Calif.

Agricultural Commissioner D. Tubbs announced establishment of the station. He said it was established because of increasing motor traffic into this state by way of the Needles-Blythe highway and the Parker-Desert Center highway. The new post will be known as the Parker station, with two inspectors on duty to inspect vehicles and baggage of persons entering California by way of Parker, Ariz.

Communism, but manifestations of anti-German propaganda. Here are excerpts from the general aims of the Bund, as set forth in the preamble to its constitution:

MUTUAL BENEFIT
"We associate ourselves together to unite all . . . men and women of the Germanic race, loyal and prospective citizens of the United States . . . into one great, free, proud and respect-commanding German-American Bund for the mutual benefit of the United States of America and Germany."

And among their purposes:
"Above all to uphold and defend the constitution . . . of the United States . . ."

"To defend with all lawful means at our disposal the good name and honor of our mother-country (Germany) against base defamation, willful and poisonous lies, and purposeful malice, emanating from any ill-wishing, jealous, avaricious or ignorant source whatsoever, be it race, people, tribe, clan, nation, association or individual; against propaganda spread by print, script or mouth, openly or covertly, through books, magazines, newspapers, leaflets, or merely cowardly rumors."

HUMANE SOCIETY

ENDSBy
PAUL
WRIGHT

Wrestling comes back to Orange County Athletic club tonight after two weeks' absence and an eventful period in the lives of the promoters, Sam Sampson and Tige Clinton.

Sorrow struck Clinton's family with the death of his mother. Sampson was forced to leave on a business trip to South Dakota and Minnesota.

Clinton, who will have sole charge of the mat programs during Sampson's absence of four to five weeks, has arranged a sizzling card tonight which speaks for itself—Vincent Lopez, onetime world's champion, vs. Kiman Kudo, Japanese titleholder; Hardy Kruskamp vs. Ignacio Martinez; Don Juan Pico and "Two-Ton" Jacobs; Del Krunkle and "Ironman" Louie Miller.

With King Football already around the corner, it's high time the University of Mississippi started booming over—Garden Grove's—Raymond Haples for all-America backfield honors. Fourteenth in national scoring his sophomore year, Haples will be a riot on the Rebels' 1937 schedule provided he escapes the injury jinx. With good blocking, his snake hips should carry him to more than the 78 points he scored in 1935.

Among Haples' most glowing efforts of his sophomore year, as you perhaps recall, was a 80-yard return of a kickoff for a touchdown against Mississippi State; a 95-yard return of a punt for a touchdown against Southwestern; and a 35-yard dash from scrimmage for six points against Tennessee.

As a junior, Ray was another riot. He started the 1936 campaign with a 96-yard run against Union college, and had Southern conference critics raving before the end of the season.

Ted Walker has turned from softball to football.

One of the best second basemen in the National league, Walker pastimed for the Orange Cubs this season, and now will aid Stewart (Stew) White in grooming the Orange preps for Sunset league competition this fall. Walker is a former ace linesman under Coach White at the high school, which will be defending champion.

Everywhere the baseball bugs gather in Santa Ana it's the same old question, "Can the Cubs overtake the Giants in the National of announcers handling the interway series" with the American league Yankees.

And the opinion seems to be that no matter which gains the final playoff, the Yankees will take 'em in six games or less.

OUT OF L. A.
TOURNEY, 4-1

Jordan, Hitt to Hurl
Against Andresson
At S. A. Bowl Tonight

From out of the fifth and deciding game inside the Municipal bowl tonight will emerge the champion of Santa Ana City league football—either Montgomery Ward's or the Elks.

Game-time is 8 o'clock, with the customary playoff admission charge of 10 cents prevailing for all comers.

DONS NEED BOWL

City league officials expressed regret that tonight's championship game will conflict with the Wrigley field finals of the Southern California tournament in Los Angeles, but it is necessary to state the game here because the Dons must take over the Municipal bowl for football in preparation for their Pasadena game here Friday night.

Manager Walt Jordan and his co-worker, Gene Hitt, will share mound duty for Montgomery Ward, who may join Santa Ana's Stars in the National league next spring. Calloway silenced the big bats of the Sears brothers—Horace and LeRoy—and Ed Starkey, Gould (Bud) Staples, Hugh Salisbury and Ray Hodgson.

Elimination marked Irvine's first game this season. Ernie Lagier's Beaniepickers will disband following the club's annual banquet, to be held soon.

SILENCES BIG BAT

Dwight Ahern, Ray Burns and Pitcher DeBusk were the only Irvine players to hit off the touting Calloway, who may join Santa Ana's Stars in the National league next spring. ## STEELE PLANS VACATION AFTER

FLOORING OVERLIN IN FOUR

By FRANK G. GORRIE

STEELTIDE (AP)—If any more middleweights have a hankering to take the world's championship from Freddie Steele of Tacoma, Wash., they will have to wait awhile.

Steele, after knocking off Ken Overlin of Washington, D. C. in four rounds here Saturday, decided to take a long rest. He was all broken up over the recent death of his manager, Dave Miller.

"I don't want to fight any sooner than I have to," said Steele. After firing two crushing left hooks in quick succession to finish Overlin in the fourth, Steele broke down before the near-capacity crowd of close to 9000 fans and sobbed openly.

"The boss didn't see it; the boss didn't see it," Steele sobbed.

The champion was relieved to-day that the long drawn-out "jinx" battle was over and was making preparations to go east for the world series. The scheduled 15-round bout has been on the fire since last May, having been postponed twice. The first time Overlin was stricken with yellow jaundice and then came Miller's death.

The challenger also was upset. He lamented the fact that he became "careless" and he dashed away from the civic auditorium in disgust.

"There is one fighter I know I can lick and that man is Freddie Steele," said Overlin. "And if I have to beat every middleweight in the country to get another chance at the title, that's what I'll do."

Chris Dundee, Overlin's manager, commented:

"If Ken can't beat Steele, nobody can do it. Only a clever boxer can take the champion. I pleaded with Overlin in the third round to box Freddie, but Ken thought he had him hurt and wanted to open up. His carelessness cost him the fight. It's a tough break to work so hard and long, and fail."

Overlin fought a foxy fight during the first three rounds, breaking even in the first round and winning the second and third with his tricky style. He got Steele off guard time and again with his dancing maneuvers. Then sudden lunges and flying fists gave the champion no end of trouble.

A right hand smash caused a swelling over and under Steele's left eye in the first round and it bothered him the rest of the way.

Steele missed many a mighty blow but when he finally landed the two wicked lefts after 10 seconds of the fourth round, Overlin collapsed on his face and had to be carried to his corner.

J. C. TRANSFERS

IMPRESS TROY

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Four junior college transfers basked tentatively today in the gridiron limelight at the University of Southern California.

Rated as potential first-stringers, or at least likely replacements for well-known regulars from the 1936 varsity, the newcomers were: Alex Atanasiou, Los Angeles J. C., a center; Grenville Lansdell, Pasadena J. C., triple-threat quarterback; Bob Winslow, Modesto J. C., end; and Leon Utman, Chaffey J. C., running guard.

Tommy Farr says real reason he broke with Manager Ted Broadbent was that Ted did nothing to heal his cut eyes on the night of the Louis fight.

SPORT
SLANTS

By TOM (FAP) PAPROCKI

COURAGE! The magic quality in sports that rarely fails to win the hearts of sports enthusiasts.

Tommy Farr won the hearts of 36,000 fight fans who watched his game stands against Champion Joe Louis as well as the countless thousands who read about the fight in the newspapers or heard it over the air.

Instead of proving a lamb led to slaughter at the dynamite-laden fists of the Brown Bomber, Farr stepped into the ring and battled Joe Louis without the slightest trace of fear. As he continued to stand up under the bruising blows of the champion round after round the crowd lined up behind him, the underdog, and cheered his efforts to resist the man who has been labeled the hardest puncher of all time.

Cut and bleeding from cuts under both eyes and around his mouth, Farr continued to bore in. He had promised to give the fans a "good go" and that is exactly what he did. His reward was the plaudits of the crowd, and a promise that lucrative matches awaited him. His reward for courage.

Shortly before Farr and Louis swung into action a flock of champions were introduced in the ring. And who do you suppose received the greatest hand from the assembled fans? Jimmy Braddock! And why? All because of the courageous manner in which he battled it out with the Brown Bomber when he lost his title in Chicago. Braddock in defeat is far more popular than he was as champion.

Don Budge's courage served him well when Baron Von Cramm won the first two sets in the recent Davis Cup inter-zone finals. The Davis Cup was practically riding on that match. Budge never weakened. He came back to take the next three sets and paved the way to victory over the British in the challenge round.

War Admiral's game demonstration in the Belmont Stakes was a grand display of courage. The game little thoroughbred stumbled at the start and sheared off his right fore-quarter. Leaving a trail of blood around the track, he raced to a four-length victory and a new track record for the mile and a half.

Eighteen Lettermen Return to Notre ## Dame, But Elmer Layden Pessimistic

By WILLIAM WEEKES

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Maybe Elmer Layden, the thin man of Notre Dame, is a little more pessimistic than usual, but he is afraid of a lot of people are expecting too much from the makings of a pretty good fighting Irish football team this season.

Layden, a 24-carat pessimist about Notre Dame football prospects, can even run his eye over a list of 18 returning lettermen—at least one for every position in his squad of 85—without admitting that he will have more than a good, battling team out there nine Saturdays in a row this fall.

"We have 18 out of our 34 monogram men of last year with us again," he said in the "Gloomy Glimp" manner, "but I can't honestly see any real reason for optimism. We lack too many things right at the start, to expect to get through a schedule as big as ours, without something happening."

"We might," he admitted cautiously, "find we have a better team than I think—but we would need an awful lot of breaks."

Layden's biggest problem is the lack, to date, of a spark-equipped back who can do those three things in football—run, pass and kick. He had figured on Andy Pupils of Chicago, the most versatile of his backs, and regular quarterback in the last half of the 1936 campaign. The necessity of shifting his last year's No. 2 quarterback, Joe Ruetz of South Bend, back to guard where he was a letterman in 1935, apparently has defeated that move.

Unless a triple-threat back shows up, kicking ability may win a job for John McMahon, junior half from Indianapolis. Pupils and Jack McCarthy of Chicago head the passers.

Notre Dame's experienced players are well spread over the squad, with 10 of them linemen. Off last year's work, the line likely will be captain Joe Zwiers, Grand Rapids, Mich., and Len Shoglund, Chicago, ends, Ed Belcher, Chicago, and either Alec Shellen, New Castle, Pa., or Paul Kell, Princeton, Ind., tackles; Ruetz and Joe Kuharich of South Bend, guards, and Pat McCarthy, Toledo, at center.

OPEN WITH DRAKE

Nevin (Bunny) McCormick of Livermore, Calif., stands out in a group of three monogram right halfbacks, the others being Jake Kovalick, of Donora, Pa., and Joe Gleason, of Chicago. The job of replacing last year's brilliant fullback, Larry Danbom, and Steven Miller, apparently lies between Ed Simolinch, a rough, tough lad from Ironwood, Mich., who played sensationally against Ohio State but did little thereafter, and Mario (Motts) Tonelli, of Chicago.

The Irish open their schedule with Drake's Bulldogs at Notre Dame Oct. 2, and on the next eight Saturdays, in order, run into Illinois at Champaign, Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh, Navy at Notre Dame, Minnesota at Minneapolis, Pittsburgh at Notre Dame, Army at New York, Northwestern at Evanston, and Southern California at Notre Dame.

As a bit of evidence to back up this statement we offer the Indian Quintana case. Quintana was selected to meet Escobar in a non-title go when Sixto returned to the wars after a five months' lay-off. It was expected to be no more than a workout for the champion. Escobar was a 10-to-1 shot to win. Yet judges and referee awarded the victory to Quintana.

Six months later the pair met again, this time in a 15-round match with Escobar's title at stake. The fighting lasted less than two minutes. After sparring a bit, Escobar shot a screaming left hook that stretched his opponent on the canvas for the count of 10.

Escobar was born in Puerto Rico. His claim to the championship rests largely on his victory over Lou Salica, who had won the title in a previous bout with Escobar—a bout designated by the New York commission as a contest for the bantamweight title. Escobar repeated the victory in a third meeting in Puerto Rico.

If you want to make the little champion feel good, just call him the little Brown Bomber. How he loves that title!

Budge Tops Von Cramm, Remains Amateur

By GAYLE HALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The long, cruel tennis war has ended; Donald Budge has the national championship he needed in his business, and now there's nothing to do but worry for the next 12 months or so.

The worrying will be about evenly divided between Budge, who is now a very austere young man, and officials of the U. S. Lawn Tennis association, who put a pile of money in the treasury the past 40 days because Budge was playing in their show. One more tournament like this, with capacity crowds the last two days, and they should be able to attach a wing to their big stadium at Forest Hills.

When Budge won that fifth and final set from Baron Gottfried Von Cramm of Germany late Saturday, adding the American championship to his "world" title won at Wimbledon, he parlayed himself, so to speak, into a very large sum of currency. He could, by turning professional, assure himself something like $100,000, which is what both Ellsworth Vines and Fred Perry, who preceded Budge into the money ranks, are popularly believed to have salted away in the past year.

But Budge has promised his old friends, the tennis fathers, faithfully, that he won't touch a cent of it for another year, at least. They are counting on him to help defend the newly won Davis cup next summer, and to draw those bumper crowds through the gates at the championships again.

Budge, the unbeatable, is gambling the fortune of, say, $100,000, Hills and his Davis cup matches again. If his best competition comes again next season from Von Cramm, Budge can no doubt do just that.

But there is a young man named Bobby Riggs coming up, also from California. It took Von Cramm five tough sets to lick him in the semi-finals, and he won't be 20 until next year. Bobby doesn't make any secret of his intentions. He means to win the championships and then cash in. He will be in there really gunning for Budge next year, fresh and as full of fight as a tarpon. Budge is leaving soon with his doubles mate, Gene Mako, for a winter of tennis in Australia, and he won't be so all-fired fresh when he returns. Such a tour nearly ruined Fred Perry, you remember.

The tennis officials need to worry only whether Don keeps his promise to give them another year of his valuable services. They are confident now that he will.

Looking backward on the championships, though, all this worry about the future is beside the point. The tournament was the most successful yet from a financial viewpoint, and it produced a couple of worthy champions. Anita Lizana, the spirited little half-pint from Chile, proved as great a standout in the women's division as Budge did in the men's. More or less under-rated throughout the play, the senorita showed Saturday's big crowd a brilliant all-around game in squelching Jadwiga Jedzejowska, the pole.

There's no saying when America will get its women's title back. Helen Jacobs, beaten before the final both at Wimbledon and Forest Hills, is about through. Alice Marble was defeated in the quarter-finals by Dorothy Bundy, who in turn was overwhelmed by Lizana. There isn't anybody else, nor any immediate prospects.

FLOOD OF TOYS TO THRILL CHILDREN HERE

LOAN LIBRARY SYSTEM TO
BE LAUNCHEDNYA Factory Here to Fill Big Demand

Hundreds of tots throughout Orange county soon will have shiny new toys to play with. And the little girls will have smartly-attired, cuddly dolls to mother.

Tomorrow Robert L. Wilson, director of the National Youth administration program in Orange county, will get his comprehensive toy loan project under way in this county.

Hundreds of brightly colored wheeled toys and hundreds of dolls, manufactured in the Santa Ana factory at 1448 South Main street by a group of 36 young people connected with the NYA program, will be loaned to youngsters.

OPEN TOMORROW

The first toy loan library to open under the NYA banner will be opened tomorrow in Huntington Beach. It is located in the 300 block on Main street, Huntington Beach, and the project is sponsored by the chamber of commerce, Red Cross and Huntington Beach Woman's club.

Next week the second toy loan library will be opened in Newport Beach, under sponsorship of the Newport Beach fire department and personal direction of Fire Chief Frank Crocker. The library will open at 2306 Ocean avenue.

The third unit will be in Brea, where the junior chamber of commerce board of directors now is making arrangements for housing.

FACTORY HERE

Wilson said that as many toy loan libraries will be opened as it is possible to supply with toys. Local sponsoring committees which provide housing facilities and cooperative direction, will make public appeals for additional toys, either old or new. The old toys will be thoroughly reconditioned in the Santa Ana plant, which will act as factory and distribution headquarters.

The county-wide project is sponsored by the county of Orange. There are a number of applications for libraries now under consideration, including those from Garden Grove, Brea Park and Tustin. Communities throughout the county are anxious to avail themselves of the government service, and are making inquiries about the program, Wilson said.

Loan procedure is the same as at a book library. The loan period of a toy is for two weeks, when the toy must be brought back and reissued. In some cases, where the youngsters take good care of the toys, they will be given to them.

CITY PAYS
FOR GUARDS
AT SCHOOLSNo Funds Handy For
WPA Aid In Work

Eight city-paid traffic guards were on duty at the most dangerous school crossings today, as WPA sponsorship of the service was definitely abandoned.

Santa Ana's city government shouldered the task of protecting school children last year, when funds for the WPA project suddenly ran out; and today WPA headquarters announced there would be no further funds available for guarding children at dangerous crossings on their way to and from school.

Last year there were more than 15 guards, when the WPA project was in operation; but the number had to be reduced when the city unexpectedly had the problem tossed in its lap. Most of the guards now on duty are former WPA men.

Historic San Juan Adobe
Is Placed In Storage

One of Orange county's most famous adobe buildings has disappeared.

The Historic Ramos adobe, built in San Juan Capistrano in 1852, has been carried away, a brick at a time, with beams, doors, shutters and other furnishings vanishing overnight.

This disappearance, however was not a theft. Instead, it was an amazing effort to save a valuable addition to Orange county's early history from complete annihilation.

PIECES STORED

Lieut. Alfonso Yorba acquired title to the building for a small sum after efforts to restore the aged structure through popular subscription had failed. Aided by grandsons of the builder and other public-spirited residents of San Juan Capistrano, Yorba tore down the famed structure and has stored the pieces until it can be conveniently restored.

Built in 1852 for his bride by don Tomas Ramos, early pueblo settler, the picturesque adobe building which stood on the east side of El Camino Real a little below Los Olivos street changed owners many times before becoming a saloon, billiard parlor and dance hall of "the two Miguel Yorbases" toward the end of the last century.

Because the two cousins and namesakes were fond of blue kalsomine and frequently repainted the house, inside and out, the old "cantina" was known as La Casa Azul, The Blue House.

OLD CONSTRUCTION

As a pleasing commentary of the neighborhood of the San Juanenos of the 1840's and 50's, it may be pointed out that don Tomas Ramos, finding himself in possession of a lot only a little more than 40 feet wide between the 1794 Candee and Verdugo adobe houses, secured the permission of Rosa Rios de Canedo and Miguel Verdugo to build his adobe between the two houses, using their south and north walls as the end walls of his new home.

In demolishing the adobe, the south wall, remnant of the long-fallen Miguel Verdugo adobe, was found to be of huge 1794 mission-style adobe, filled with wheat straw, in contrast to the smaller, darker 1852 adobe.

CHINA FRAGMENTS

Aside from fragments of twigs and pieces of tar from the remnants of the 1840's, before the coming of milled lumber and shakes in the 60's, there also was discovered in and under the walls of the later building fragments of red, blue and black chinaware, colored beads and buttons, sigarros of the 1852 vintage, ancient hairpins, pumpkin seeds and olive pits and even a fragment of an old guitar.

But—and this is the significant item—no chest of gold coin was in evidence.

MISLEADING
GAS SIGNS
ARE BANNEDAmendment Prohibits
'Trick' Figures

Deceptive service-station advertising—the kind that displays a big sign saying "Gas, 15 cents" and adds in minute letters the fact that there is a tax to be paid—is outlawed today.

New amendments to state laws went into effect Aug. 27, and will outlaw misleading signs and price quotations, Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs said today.

A sign showing a large number, together with a relatively small fraction, is outlawed under the new statutes, Tubbs said, as are signs which indicate a price presumed to be a gasoline price, but which the motorist finds refer to the price of a package of cigarettes or a pound of lard.

"Signs advertising goods other than gasoline or fuel but which may be construed as referring to gasoline or fuel are prohibited," says the law. Reclaimed motor oil must be labeled as such, and brand names must be given on gasoline price signs.

"This new legislation," said Tubbs, who also is sealer of weights and measures, "will undoubtedly be welcomed by legitimate service station operators and should serve to ease the mind of the traveling public, which has in the past been deceived."

Speeding Fine
Grows to $25

A speeding charge, aggravated by three previous citations for which he allegedly failed to appear, brought a $25 fine to Alfred Lopera, 1372 Logan court, in Judge J. G. Mitchell's court Saturday.

Other speeding fines: Lloyd Douglas, Santa Ana, $6; William Reynolds, Jr., Pomona, $6; Lee E. Shivers, Jr., Los Angeles, $6.

Historic San Juan Adobe
Is Placed In Storage

Efforts to protect the landmark from the rains having failed and sufficient funds to purchase the property not being available, Yorba acquired title to the adobe and woodwork and set about to remove them from the lot.

With aid of volunteer workers including Alfredo, Aurelio, Juan and Julian Ramos, grandsons of the builder, Juan Aguilar II, Armando Sanchez, Emilio Stoffel, Alberto and Esteban Wattenburg, Ubaldo Moraga, Ramundo Sanchez and even little Manuel Briceno, the structure was torn down.

MILLED BEAMS

About 800 whole adobes, 400 half-adobes, four shutters, one double and one single door, five hand-hewn beams, five old corridor posts and a large amount of milled beams and shakes of the 1860's were saved and transported to a safe place for storage until sufficient funds are available to restore the old landmark.

Thus San Juan lost the second of the scant collection of 14 interesting old adobe houses. The most interesting of them all, the tiled-roof "Casa Tejada" was torn down by its owners between March and July.

What To Do—
If Your Car Hits a Pedestrian

1. Get your car off the road or near a curb and stop.
2. Apply first aid if you know how but move the victim as little as possible. Don't give him any liquor.
3. Either go for a doctor or summon a trained ambulance crew.
4. Report the accident to the police, identify yourself and follow their instructions.
5. Get the names of all witnesses. Give them your name and address. Make a rough sketch of the scene.
6. Discuss blame for the accident with no one but properly authorized agents of the law.

Be sure to stop, says an American Red Cross expert who compiled this list, for it's a criminal offense to leave the scene of an accident without establishing your identity. If the victim is conscious he may have a swallow of water but no liquor. If he is obviously not seriously hurt get him to a doctor or hospital as soon as possible.

If he is unconscious don't under any circumstances try to take him to help. The jolting ride might kill him.

Instead drag him gently and slowly to the side of the road, lay him down and wrap him in a blanket. Heat is the best "rule of thumb" treatment for shock. He may have nothing to drink, not even water.

You should know first aid to competently treat a bad case of bleeding but make an attempt at any rate. Cover the wound with your hand. Or tie a handkerchief or necktie between the wound and the heart and pull it tight. Remember to loosen it once every 15 minutes to prevent gangrene.

A sketch of the scene noting the relative positions of your car and the pedestrian may be useful if legal action develops later.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Deardorff and Miss Glenna Jean returned to their Santa Ana home this week-end after spending three months at their summer home at Idyllwild.

An old and a new cabin there give them facilities for entertaining more than 20 at a time, and many were the delightful parties during the summer. Most recent guests were Mrs. Frank Thomas, Miss Gladys Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Thomas and two children, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gould. Several of the party joined in a horseback expedition that took them into the Taquitz valley, and up the mountain to a height of 8800 feet.

FUR CHAPEAU

This new chapeau made of fur borrows a fashion note from the beaver worn by the dandies of the "extravagant nineties." Suzy of Paris makes it of nutria and bands it in brown velvet ribbon, extended to form a scarf. Notice how the pearls and chataigne watch are worn.

Book Review of the Week

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of weekly book reviews of current publications which will appear each Monday in The Journal.

"Sisters of the Road" by Dr. Ben C. Reitman (Courtesy Treasure Isle Gift Shop, 506 North Main)

By MOLLY HARVEY

Subtitled "An Autobiography of Box Car Bertha," Dr. Reitman's book presents a very appealing picture of a self-professed woman hobo. Bertha's confessions, as told to the doctor are of the most intimate and harrowing nature.

Poets' Corner

California Verse Reprints With Comments BY MINA SHAFER

Don Blanding, Hawaii's own poet who is vacationing on the Big Island, has just completed reading final proofs on his new book "The Rest of the Road" to be released in September.

Because Blanding believes "To me, June here is the epitome of all the Junes in the world," he also includes the following tributes to the islands:

THE BIRTH OF JUNE

This is the land where June is born. Every year on a certain morn She rises up from a cloudy bed With a rainbow scarf around her head.

She carries a basket of spacious size And gathers the colors that meet her eyes. She filches the gold from the brand new dawn, And the shower-petals that strew the lawn.

She takes the scarlets and reds and pinks From hibiscus blossoms to brew her inks. She steals the fragrance of all the flowers That blossom in hedges and yards and bowers.

She sweeps the rainbows out of the skies To make her various tints and dyes. She strains the blues from the coral pools, Then gathers up all of her flasks and tools.

Her brushes and dyes and her perfume vials And flies away from these tropical isles To scatter her treasures on hills and fields, To spill the fragrance her scrap-bag yields, To tint the flowers and scent the buds And fling the color in joyous floods.

She works all night by the light of the moon And makes what is known as "a day in June."

Then too, there is one that should appeal to all Islanders: LIQUID SUNSHINE

Like the easy tears of children The liquid sunshine falls With spells of laughing brightness Between the weepy squalls.

If you're new to these rainbow islands You may curse the rain, and frown, If you're wise you'll look straight skyward And see diamonds drifting down.

It spills in gauzy curtains From clear and cloudless sky As quick as moods in passing. And no one knows just why. "HILO TRIBUNE HERALD"

In the lovely garden of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Thomson of Peralta Hills, Miss Nancy Thomson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conger Thomson, and Paul Perenich exchanged wedding vows before Dr. Robert Burns McCaulay, pastor of the Orange Presbyterian church, Saturday evening at 7 o'clock.

ESTIN BURKS OPENS DANCING CLASS

The opening of school brings with it for sub-debs and boys in their teens the thought of dancing school and informal parties, and coincidental with that was the opening of Estin Burks' weekly class last Friday evening, at which was an excellent turnout of junior high and high school young people.

Miss Burks teaches in Santa Ana on Wednesdays and Fridays at the Y. W. C. A., and is particularly interested this year in the prospects of movie careers for her individual pupils, for she has been given an exclusive contract with Carl Laemmle, stating that one of her pupils within the next six months will have the opportunity to be connected with his studio.

The party was given in a private room at Daniger's cafe, where the tables were centered with pink flowers. Hearts were the place cards for the dinner party, and were attached by ribbons to a celophane bag filled with rice.

Many lovely miscellaneous gifts were presented to the bride-elect, in a clothes basket wrapped in tissue paper and tied with a large pink and white bow. Guests contributed their favorite recipes which were written out and filed in Miss Vogt's recipe book.

The bride-to-be was gowned in a flake-blue dress with duobonnet accessories for the party. The hostess, Miss Roderick, wore rust wool with black accessories, and Mrs. S. S. Vogt, mother of the bride-elect, was in turquoise blue with black accessories.

Mary Stoddard Women Hold Men Closer Through Little Indifference Than Amazon Tactics

Trying to hold a man who wants to get away is like collecting water in a sieve. You will have the sieve—but even the rain-drops will fall through. And what, I ask you, is the good of chaining a man to your side when his spirit has made an exodus? Perhaps if the young lady who writes the following letter will look at her broken engagement from this angle, she will indefinitely postpone that breach-of-promise suit she is planning:

Dear Miss Stoddard: One minute I think my heart is broken, and the next I get fighting mad. I was to have been married in about six weeks to a man I love dearly.

Two weeks ago he came to me one evening and asked to be released from his promise. He won't give any definite reason except that he feels it is best for all concerned. When I asked him if he didn't love me any more—he hesitated and said he preferred not to answer.

Now because of this evasion, I feel sure that he does love me but is being influenced by an evil hand to know who has recently come here to make her home.

I've thought it all over and have decided to file a breach-of-promise suit against him. Don't you think if I should let him know I will do this, he might at least let our engagement stand, and then later on come to his senses? I love him so

Twenty-Fifth Milestone Passed

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Birt has been incentive for two lovely parties over the week-end, a reception and dinner party, both held in the beautiful gardens of the Birt home at 2210 Maple avenue.

The high privet hedge surrounding the garden, a fish pool in the center, and colored lights throughout the shade trees of the garden made a lovely setting for the affairs. During the reception held Friday evening, the shower house of the home had been decorated to represent a carnival booth, and refreshments were served from it.

Guests were taken in small groups through the home to see the gifts and flowers sent by the lodges to which the couple belongs, and by their friends and neighbors. In the garden, they were served by John and Maurice Birt, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Birt, Miss Lucille Stoker, and Dick Cocking.

Prepare Child Now For School

By C. N. CHRISMAN, M. D.
If you have a child going to school this fall, let's talk about it. There are certain things that should be done to safeguard his health.

The child should be vaccinated against smallpox, and should be immunized against diphtheria. This should really be done before school opens, because he may be more or less sick for a week or ten days from vaccination, and the diphtheria toxoid should be given only when the child can be quiet. If it is delayed till after school opens, a week or two of attendance may be lost.

If the eyes are defective, treatment or glasses will aid him greatly in his school work, and may save many hours of headache, heartache and discouragement. A child who does not see well cannot do good work, and is often called indolent and dumb. Any defect in hearing will cause apparent inattention and resulting punishment and humiliation.

Inspection for skin and hair infections should be carefully made. In the summer time, when children wear little clothing, they bathe in the same pools. They are quite likely to contract skin troubles.

The most common of these is impetigo. It first appears on the hands, arms, legs and face as small red pimples, which become water blisters. These rupture, forming scabs, which enlarge and cause irritation. A child cannot enter school with this trouble. Scabies and itch are also very common, as are head lice. To have your child contract any of these troubles does not mean carelessness. It only shows carelessness when allowed to continue.

Whooping cough, chicken pox, measles, mumps and scarlet fever are some of the things to which your child may be exposed, to which he may carry to others. Always be on the lookout for these.

Divorcee's Daughter

by VIVIAN RADCLIFFE

Janice Flagg is the young, attractive daughter of Ogden Flagg, Chicago millionaire, but her mother, a Hollywood extra, divorced from Flagg, has taught Janice to hate him. After her mother's death, Janice spurns an invitation to live with him and her sister Irvonne, in Chicago. She also spurns an offer of marriage by elderly Lawrence Worthington and flies to New York to make her own way. But during a stop-over in Champaign, Ill., she meets and falls in love with Peter Hathaway, young assistant professor of literature at the University of Champaign. Janice goes on to New York and gets a job as secretary to Robert Craymore, lawyer, who takes her to a night club, gets drunk, and makes unwelcome advances. She happens to see Wyldie Greene and his mother, whom she knew five years ago, and desperately signals to them for aid.

CHAPTER VII

"CAN this possibly be Janice?" Wyldie Greene asked, standing before her table, tall and handsome in his evening clothes, gray-blue eyes searching her face. Robert Craymore, intoxicated now, made an attempt to rise but sank back in his chair with an annoyed grunt.

"Yes, Wyldie," Janice's reply came in a gasp of relief. Then, she added quickly, "I was wondering if you'd ask me to dance with you. Our last dance was one I have not forgotten."

Though a puzzled frown puckered Wyldie's brow, he replied gallantly. "Of course. This dance." Before Janice could introduce her employer, Wyldie had in his arms. They had never danced together, but she simply had to use some excuse to get away from the table.

Breathlessly, she told him of her predicament, begged him to stay with her until she was able to obtain her coat check from Craymore, and to see her safely outside the night club. Embarrassing to ask this of him, but would he? Better, still, he said, he'd handle the man himself while she talked to his mother.

Wyldie had been so kind to her five years ago, that Janice had secretly enthroned him in her heart as the kind of a man a girl should fall in love with. And now to meet him and his mother again! New York, after all, was not such a lonely city. You could meet friends.

JANICE sat at Mrs. Greene's table after introductions to Corinne Wexton, the beautiful red-headed girl, and Anson Hart, who was apparently quite wealthy and a little bored with life in general. Quickly, Janice told of her mother's death in Hollywood, and of her own trip to New York to find work in an entirely different locale.

"I didn't know. We've just returned from abroad," Mrs. Greene murmured. "How inconsiderate of Lois to commit suicide. Didn't she realize what it would do to you? But then, she never considered anyone except herself. No offense meant, my dear—I was very fond of Lois—but we can be fond of a person and yet see her faults."

Janice, filled with embarrassment, was watching Wyldie arguing with Craymore. She could see her job disappearing in thin air. Tomorrow she would go to the office and collect the money for the few days she had worked and then look for another position.

"Who is the man?" Mrs. Greene demanded, in her austere manner.

About Folks

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Johnson, South Broadway, have returned from Modesto, where they have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Paul Johnson, formerly of this city.

They made the trip with Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gerrard, who continued their trip to San Francisco. The Gerrards will return later.

Mrs. Maggie Mae Reed returned to her new home at 923 Louise street yesterday after spending several days in San Diego visiting former Santa Anans, Mr. and Mrs. P. N. Chapin.

Reading circle of Estella Daniels' society of the First Presbyterian church will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. J. B. McFarlane, 728 West Walnut street.

Mrs. Paul Dinsmore left yesterday for her former home at Piedmont, where she will visit for two weeks.

Mrs. Ellen Tolan, 1072 West Fourth street, and Mrs. Gale Tolan of Anaheim, will leave this week for a ten days' vacation in San Francisco and Modesto.

Miss Franchon Martinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Martinson, 2041 North Main street, who received her A. M. degree from Mills college in June, will return as a teacher in the children's school this week. Miss Marina Romero of Spain, a classmate who has been a guest here for a week, will return with her.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Firestone left this week-end for a 10-day vacation in the High Sierras.

While they waited for the girl to bring Janice's cloak, he insisted, "You'll come to see us soon, won't you?"

"Of course, I'd love to," Janice's eyes clouded until they seemed almost black. "Was Mr. Craymore very angry?"

"Furious. I guess I lost your job for you, but call up Mother in a few days and we'll help you locate one. If you haven't already succeeded in finding one yourself."

Just like that. If you haven't a job in a few days, we'll try to help you get one. How little the wealthy Wyldie Greene understood the business world, understood how hard it was to get jobs!

As Wyldie helped her into her velvet evening wrap and she pulled it close about her slight figure, completely covering the golden-lame dress she wore, she smiled up at him with more courage than she felt.

"I'll probably have a job. Don't worry about me."

Though she insisted there was no need, he put her in a taxi and paid the driver to take her home. She wondered if he remembered her address a few moments after he had given it, if he would come to see her should she fail to telephone his mother.

DRIVING home in the cab, she was torn between three courses of action. She could return to her father, she could struggle on, working, trying to keep body and soul together; or she could telephone Mrs. Greene and throw herself upon that woman's mercy and maybe be accepted for employment.

There was really no reason why she should feel so desolate. She wasn't licked yet. Far from it. Tomorrow she would see Mr. Craymore and get the money due her. Then she would hold her chin up and go out seeking a job. The letter from the secretarial school would help a little in the way of reference. But she heartily wished she had more than the meager fifteen dollars in her purse.

She had thought, in Hollywood, there would be more money left when everything had been settled. But so many little things kept cropping up, that the money had dwindled away to a mere nothing. The cold weather of New York had made a heavy winter coat necessary, taking most of the money left upon her arrival.

But she was not licked. No, she decided, she would not go to her father, or to Mrs. Greene. She would fight along on her own until the last ditch, and then—well, then she would turn to Mrs. Greene rather than to her father. When she went to him—if ever—she must not go as a mendicant.

Unusual Dishes Are Inexpensive

By JUDITH WILSON

Here are the recipes for some unusual dishes. The combinations are inexpensive, yet attractive enough to feature at a party. Serve them as "something new."

OLD-FASHIONED CREAM PIE

1 unbaked pie shell
2 cups cream
1/2 cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon lemon extract
3 egg whites
Dash salt
Dash nutmeg

Take a small amount of the egg white, and brush over the pie shell. Bake 10 minutes in a hot oven.

Beat the remaining egg whites, add the cream, sugar mixed with the flour and salt, the extracts and nutmeg. Pour into the pie crust and bake 35 minutes in a moderately slow oven.

SALMON SALAD IN CUCUMBERS

3 medium-sized cucumbers
1/2 cup olive oil
4 cups water
1 clove garlic
1 teaspoon salt
2 lemons; juice
crosswise slices, cooked in the spiced water and oil, then chilled and served with other hors d'oeuvres.

2 bay leaves
1/2 teaspoon thyme
1/2 teaspoon whole peppers
Wash the cucumbers, split in half, lengthwise. Simmer water with the other ingredients for 20 minutes, or until the liquid is reduced to 2 cups. Add the cucumbers and boil until tender, but not soft. Drain and chill. When cold, scoop out the centers and fill with salmon salad. Here is the recipe:

1 cup flaked salmon
1/2 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons thinly sliced celery
1 tablespoon chopped nuts
1/2 teaspoon grated onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper

In France, the unpeeled cucumber is sliced with a fork to make lengthwise stripes, cut in

WORKMANS ENTERTAIN CHILDREN

A real picnic supper was served to children of the neighborhood Thursday when Dr. James and Dr. Estelle Workman entertained at their annual party for the youngsters in the picnic garden of their home, 1905 Valencia street.

The Wiener bake is given each year for children who live along Valencia street, just before they return to school. After the picnic dinner, during which Dr. James Workman and Ed Kolbe gave the children short talks, they played various out-door games.

Others present were Ed Kolbe and his sister, Miss Dorothea Kolbe, who is visiting here from her home in Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Workman, and the host and hostess.

Two Affairs Honor Flints
Informal welcomes home to Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Flint (Rose Marie Smith) who spent the summer in Central Europe, have filled the past week since their return Monday.

Over the week-end were two pleasant affairs, one a dinner-bridge hosted Saturday evening by the Milan Millers, whose other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Finley, and Mr. and Mrs. Braden Finch.

Last night the Flints were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ferrey at their lovely new Panorama Heights home. Mrs. Ferrey (Mary Bruner) is the sister of Miss Marjorie Bruner who accompanied the Flints to Europe, and who is now in New York taking post-graduate college work.

Sir John Falstaff, famous Shakespearean character, is the central figure in six operas.

Get Rid Of Summer Souvenirs

By JACQUELINE HUNT

Souvenirs of summer! Freckles and suntan and sun-bleached hair! Perhaps you have them, too, and the chances are that you will be working like mad to get rid of them before another two weeks have passed. Few girls would think of trying to hold onto their summer skins more than a few weeks, anyway.

But there are a few summer habits that you should try to keep. Using a deodorant, for instance. Most of you get the habit in the summer, when you naturally tend to perspire more than usual. But do you keep it up when winter comes?

And you shouldn't give up the liberal, boyish figure that you acquired during your summer vacation. See that you get some exercise daily, to use all of the muscles in your body, especially if you are a business girl. If it is impossible for you to join a gymnasium class, or get out and play games, then spend ten minutes, night and morning, in routine exercises. It's the regularity that works wonders for the figure.

And did you learn to take cold showers during the summer? Then keep them up. They are just as invigorating in the winter, and harder on you against winter colds—if you can take them. If they leave you feeling chilled and miserable, you had better stop. Perhaps cold showers were not intended for you anyway. However, you might be able to build up to them gradually, starting with water that is body temperature, then cool, and finally cold.

Another habit that you should have acquired during the summer was that of cleansing your skin frequently. You simply had to wash your face, or use a cleansing preparation, three or four times a day, completely renewing your make-up, if you wanted to keep looking cool and fresh.

COUNTRY CLUB PARTY FRIDAY
Half a hundred were served at last night's buffet supper at the Country club, at which Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cole, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stephens, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fernandez were hosts and hostesses.

Reservations are now being taken for Friday afternoon's monthly bridge tea, for members and guests.

Slip Cover Gives Key To Color Scheme
Our picture shows a terra cotta material with design in beige and brown. For one chair, select plain terra cotta stripes alternating with figured ones in green and beige; for another a beige cover veiled in green.

With a sofa in bottle green, a smart choice is self-figured beige for one chair; a dusty rose, narrowly striped in beige for another.

Fitting a trim sofa cover is easy if you pin on material before cutting, as our upper sketch shows. Remember to center fabric design on each seat cushion and each division of back.

Our 32-page booklet gives diagrams, step-by-step directions for all kinds of slip covers. New materials, colors, styles.

Send 10c for your copy of How to Make Slip Covers to Santa Ana Journal, Home Service, 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

— By —
ROBBIN COONS

Helen Jepson's days are filled with song. If she isn't recording an aria at the studio she's rehearsing one, as here, in the garden patio of her Hollywood home.

HOLLYWOOD—Operatic Helen Jepson's introduction to movie work was typically filled with annoyances. Miss Jepson, slim and comely, and Charles Kullman, also from the Met, were principals in the first and only scene of the first day of "Goldwyn Follies." They were doing a scene from "La Traviata"—doing it over and over. The setting was beautiful, like Miss Jepson, whose dark blue evening gown was the most vivid spot of color on the stage. The other women and the background players all wore pastel shades, making it easier for the color camera to pick out the star.

DON'T ACT LIKE STARS
Kullman and Miss Jepson were singing with full orchestra. But things went wrong at least 10 times while I watched and listened, and the two singers would start anew. The lights went on and off time and again, being "saved" during waits. But neither Miss Jepson nor Kullman acted like an opera star. Both smiled, sat, and sang on order. For all I know they still there, still meeting the thousand and one technical obstacles of movie-making—but at least Goldwyn's $2,000,000 extravaganza has been launched.

Every picture about Annapolis has that scene wherein the upper-classmen twit the freshman and make him go through farcical antics for their amusement. "Hold 'Em Navy!" is no exception. We find John Howard giving elaborately serious commands to Lew Ayres, the freshman. The result will be Ayres' forced demonstration, with roly-poly Benny Baker as victim, of how a gentleman kisses a lady.

CARD PARTY SERIES PLANNED BY Y. L. I.
Plans for a series of four card parties, climaxed with the awarding of a grand prize, were explained last week when members of the Young Ladies institute held their regular session in the Knights of Columbus hall.

Margaret Johnson, president of the institute, announced the next meeting scheduled for Sept. 23, as the first card party in the series. The study club will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. at 914 Lacy street, while the sport club will have a horseback ride Monday, Sept. 20, with Lillian Glaab and Rose Wakefield in charge.

Refreshments were served by a committee, and several games of lotto were played at the close of the meeting.

The Earl of Essex, a favorite at the court of Queen Elizabeth, was beheaded at the age of 34.

PRESBYTERIAN SOCIETIES PLAN ACTIVITIES

In keeping with the start of the fall season, the women's societies from the First Presbyterian church have been especially active during the past week, the Missionary society using "India" as a theme for their session Wednesday, and the South-East Section of the Ladies' Aid holding a special welcome home program Thursday.

Members of the missionary society heard a program devoted to India, as directed by Mrs. Earl Vite, program chairman. Talks were given by Mrs. O. J. Heavley, Mrs. C. F. Carpenter, Mrs. E. F. Gabe, and Mrs. L. B. Pearl.

Mrs. M. B. Youel conducted the business meeting for the missionary society, and Mrs. R. J. Blee and Mrs. O. Scott McFarland led the prayer periods. Mrs. H. K. Follack played a piano melody.

The O. Scott McFarland home, 303 Orange avenue, was the setting for the homecoming meeting of the Ladies' Aid section, with bouquets of zinnias and carnations making a lovely background. Later the flowers were taken to members of the group who are ill by a committee consisting of Mrs. McFarland, the hostess, Mrs. E. F. Gabe, committee chairman, Mrs. R. J. Blee, Mrs. R. M. Foster, Mrs. E. C. McKinstry, and Mrs. Myrtle Brown.

About 50 ladies were present for the business session, with Mrs. C. N. Archer presiding, and a tea with Mrs. A. J. Beckman and Mrs. Archer pouring. Mrs. A. W. Metzgar led the devotionals and Mrs. A. J. Beckman, general aid president, talked on the society's work for the coming months.

SISTER FETES MISS VIRGINIA WALBRIDGE
Another pretty party complementing Miss Virginia Walbridge, bride-elect of Richard Nichols of Glendale, was the shower at which her sister, Mrs. Catherine Walbridge, entertained yesterday in the late afternoon. The former home of her mother, Mrs. B. B. Walbridge, at 225 North Gardena street, Anaheim, was setting for the affair.

Bridge and hearts were played, with first prizes going to Miss Beatrice La Black of Long Beach, and Miss Florence Backs of Anaheim, and second prizes going to Mrs. Maude Backs and Mrs. Howard Sloan.

Lovely gifts were showered on Miss Walbridge at the refreshment hour, and her cousin, Miss Louise Jackson, was given a surprise birthday shower at the same time.

Presiding over the lace-spread table were Mrs. Clyde Ailing and Mrs. Maude Backs, and the honor guest. Other present were Mrs. R. V. Sloan, Mrs. Howard Sloan, Mrs. Ralph Walbridge, Miss Constance Walbridge, Mrs. Lawrence Walbridge, Miss Beatrice La Black, Miss Louise Jackson, Mrs. F. A. Backs, Miss Florence Backs, Mrs. Maude Backs, Mrs. Emma Jackson, Mrs. William Berdron, Miss Lillian Bennischeidt, Miss Frances Backs, and Mrs. B. B. Walbridge.

COLLEGE GROUP FETES FRIENDS
Departure of Miss Erma Swarts for Tucson, where she has accepted a position as traveling secretary for Dr. Wayne Walker, was incentive for a gay party last night when a group of her junior college friends participated in a hamburger fry at Irvine park.

Miss Luella Swarts, her sister, and Marvin Hinton, were hostess and host at the affair, and at the end of the meal the group presented Miss Swarts with a pretty gold locket as a farewell gift.

Present were Miss Fern Anderson, Miss Jean McKim, Miss Marian Bradley, Miss Donna Baker, Miss Luella Swarts, Joe Yocam, Dawson of Los Angeles, Herbert Lynn, Lee Smith, Paul Wolven, Gilbert Colbeck, Marvin Hinton, and the honor guest.

HOTTER ON COLD DAYS

On cold, clear days the intensity of the heat radiation received from the sun by the earth is far greater than on hot days. The reason behind this seemingly paradoxical phenomenon is the fact that on warm or hot days the air is filled with water vapor and dust. Vapor traps much of the sun's rays while dust scatters them. Little vapor or dust is in the air on cold days. Perhaps one of the most evident examples of "hot sunshine" on a cold day was recorded in Washington, D. C., on February 9, 1934. On that day, according to W. R. Gregg, Chief of the U. S. Weather Bureau, the city experienced its coldest weather in 20 years. Yet, strange as it seems, on the same day the intensity of radiation received from the sun was the greatest ever recorded there.

We're Not a Bit Scared

Exposure of the Nazi organizations in Orange county or elsewhere among Germans and so-called German-Americans is all to the good; and it doesn't leave us a bit scared.

If anything could discredit that form of mass hysteria and sadism known as fascism, it is the caricature of Mussolini presented to the world by Herr Hitler and his pals in Germany.

And if anything was needed to discredit fascism here in America, it is the antics of the small minority of Hitler-worshippers recently exposed.

The good sense and decency of this country put an end to the home grown brands of fascism known as the Ku Klux Klan and Black Legion.

And it will be even easier to deal with the agents and dupes of the benighted men who rule German nazism today.

If we needed any help, Hitler himself supplies it in his recent pronouncement to the effect that: "We need to bring back the Germans in the United States to the racial unity and common faith of all Germans. To this end, the intellectual and spiritual reform of Americans of German extraction is necessary in accord with the model furnished by the old homeland."

So Americans of German extraction need intellectual and spiritual reform a la Hitler!

No Americans will be more indignant at that arrogant stupidity than those of German descent.

Herr Hitler has learned nothing from the lesson of 1917, when another German autocrat counted upon the slavish adherence of Americans who had the blood of Goethe, Schiller and Beethoven in their veins.

Their answer to the Kaiser was the appearance on the western front of tens of thousands of Americans of German descent—fighting for those ideals of human freedom that had been fostered by noble Germans just as effectively as they had been fostered by noble French, English and Italians.

By caricaturing the fascist movement and by outrageous conduct that has at least the merit of frankness, these Nazis are doing a real service for democracy.

However, we shall do nothing about these Nazi-minded Germans over here for the very reason that we are a democracy. Democracies aren't afraid of minorities. In fact, the more unreasonable minorities are the less democracies fear them. There are 12 million German-Americans living here, the great bulk of whom like our country and our ways and loathe Hitlerism as much as we do. Twenty thousand Nazi revolutionists in a nation of 130 million people are about as ridiculous as the three tailors who began their petition with "We, the people of England."

No, we will not arrest these Nazis over here and put them into concentration camps or shoot them down. But if a fraction of that many Americans organized in Germany to overthrow the Reich government the Nazi police would have them under lock and key or under ground in a jiffy.

That is one difference between America and Germany.

Foreign policies are sometimes too complicated for the common people to understand. All they have to do is get killed trying to carry them out.

To Preserve American Peace

The League of Nations failed largely because the nations of the western hemisphere would not and could not permit themselves to be made responsible for regulating the age-old quarrels of Europe and Asia.

Looking back upon that time, a great many persons now can see that the United States never should have permitted itself to be drawn into the World War. Specious reasoning and the emotions of a war-mad period did the trick.

But there is no reason why a league of American nations of both North and South America could not function perfectly at home, nor any reason why it could not be a perfect neighbor to a league composed of the nations of the old world.

Two leagues or societies of nations, one operating as a force for law and order in each of the hemispheres, each striving to maintain friendly relations and mutually attractive commerce with the other section of the world, might very easily establish a foundation for world peace broader and better than any that has up to this time existed.

At this time, with the eruptions and disruptions of war in evidence at various corners of the earth, it may seem a little too idealistic a plan to suggest.

Where one league of nations flew to pieces, due to internal pressures, two, operating across the world from each other, might actually operate as a common governor upon the affairs of mankind, and provide a working peace agreement which, up to the present, the world has been able only to dream about.

Whether or not such a plan has a chance to succeed we do not know. We do know, however, that any plan is worth serious thought when its purpose is to prevent the slaughter of another war.

Speaking of Santa Claus, one of the last bills passed by the house provides two million dollars for government purchase of reindeer.

Pillaging Papa's Purse

"Right now," said young John Roosevelt as he returned from Europe and headed for Hyde Park, "my funds are a bit low. Will I be glad to see the Old Man?"

The "Old Man," who has been hearing the same line from corporations, states, cities and politicians for the last five years, must be getting a little bored.

If F.D.R. does decide to run for a third term, he probably will let John D. Hamilton know, providing John D. is still in the business.

FAIR Enough

A Blonde Causes a Spy Scare in Italy

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK.—During the period of emotional nonsense which followed the adoption of sanctions against Italy by the League of Nations, there was quite a spy scare in Rome and there was one particular spy, or suspect, whose activities were checked with great patriotic zeal by all the young and old bucks, military and diplomatic, who could break in on the play.

This spy, or suspect, was a medium-sized blonde with a racy, streamlined chassis, a light but highly attractive paint-job and numerous changes of scenery. She was pointed out to me in the bar of the Ambassador hotel my first day in town by Mr. Rota, the manager of the plant, a stylish little dude on the order of Adolf Menjou, the moving picture actor.

HIS EYE ON HER

"See that woman in the leopard coat?" Mr. Rota whispered dramatically.

"Nice," I remarked, "friend of yours?"

"Friend? No," he said. "She is a spy. I have my eye on her."

"Do you need any help?" I asked.

"No joking," Mr. Rota said. "She is a spy and we are watching her night and day."

I said this was not bad work if you could get it because this spy or suspect, was something very special, but Mr. Rota told me that if I would just keep my eyes open I would see some of the finest counter-espionage work the world had ever known. And for a fact I did.

This spy, or suspect, was said to be a German and that tended to confuse things because the Germans were not at all interested in Abyssinia, which was the talk of all the officers in uniforms who were hanging around the hotel bars and the German military attaché in Rome had said they didn't much care whether they were allowed to send an observer or not. Their interest ran to continental European warfare.

Anyway, the Italians had her pegged for a German spy and they checked her night and day with a patriotic devotion that was something to behold. She seemed to have plenty of money, for she dressed expensively and wore jewelry that was distinctly not five-and-ten, but she never had to lift a check for a meal or a drink in several weeks. There seemed to be great competition among the patriots of Rome for the duty of taking the German spy to lunch and cocktails and dinner and to the little night club which Mr. Rota conducted in the cellar of the Ambassador, by special permission of the government, in order that the foreigners in town should not think that all gaiety had vanished before the threat of war's privations.

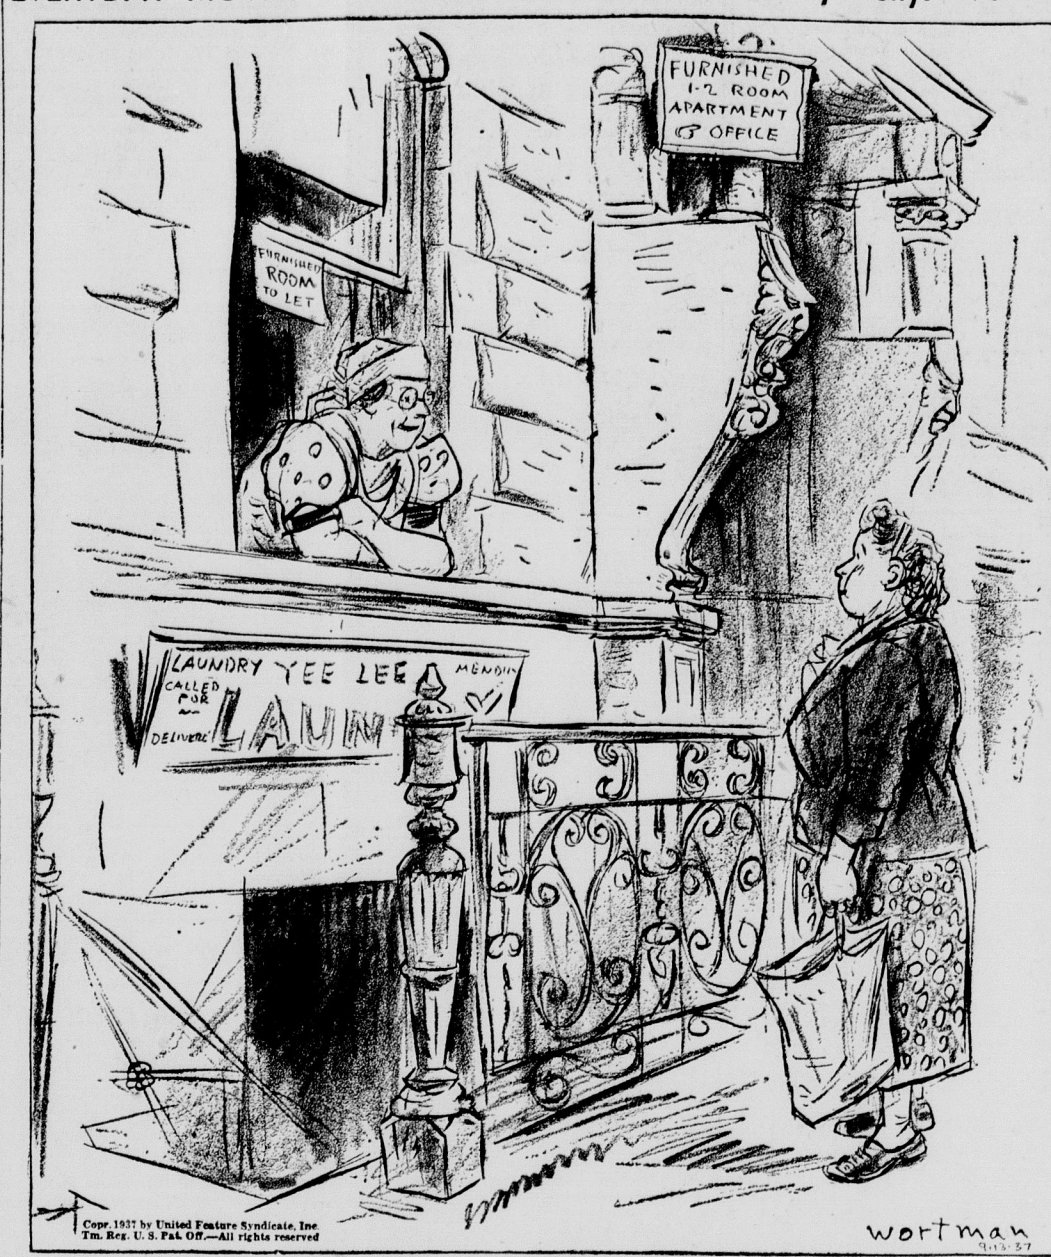

HAD GRANDSTAND SEATS
By and by most of the American journalists in town and their wives, who ran pretty much together socially, came to know the spy by sight and they would sit around at night watching the play of wits in this game of life and death. Once in a while an American journalist would say, "If you will excuse me I think I will go to the bar and do a little counter-espionage," and the little woman would say, "Over my dead body you will."

Our spy became quite an institution with a tag-line reaching from here to there—colonels, majors, lieutenants in beautiful war costumes and civilians in mufti. There was never any lack of volunteers to play her with spaghetti and wine in the hope of working her secret from her and sending her to the firing squad, although I believe all their efforts failed in the end.

But the principal agent of the counter-espionage was a young and graceful hand-kisser from the foreign office who threw himself into his work with a brave abandon that was really inspiring. He had at least half her dates, and you could see the eyes of the volunteers sitting on the sidelines enviously following him around the floor at night as he wrestled his subject through the measures of the dance, very close to his work, and obviously devoted to his duty and, rather strangely, the bucks seemed to do most of the talking, which is a curious way to conduct counter-espionage, and whenever she would open her pretty trap to say a word, whatever it was, the patriot who had the honor of serving Mussolini and Italia at the moment would arch his neck and beam like a sunrise.

PEG GOT ENVOIUS
I am telling you, friends, this spy was really extra. And the night she showed up in the night club in the purple evening dress with no shoulder straps at all, the patriots came arunning from far and near to keep an eye on her for the Duke. No Italian military, and certainly no Fascist, I discovered I, too, was keeping an eye on her and feeling no pain except,

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's Note: The Merry-Go-Round's Brass Ring, "good for one free ride," is herewith awarded to Edward F. McGrady, famed conciliator of labor disputes who recently resigned from the government.)

WASHINGTON.—A long list of headlines have departed the New Deal, but none left a hole so large or so difficult to fill as that caused by the resignation of Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady.

For four years he was the mainstay of the labor department and the President's ace trouble-shooter. In that role he traveled 165,000 miles by plane, and settled labor disputes in every line of industry from the making of needles to the building of battleships. He worked nights, Sundays and holidays. His only vacation was a five-day ocean cruise that he took with a grandson as a reward for the youngster's winning of a scholarship.

Quite as remarkable as this extraordinary record of unstinting labor and notable achievement was McGrady's modesty, and his loyalty to his nominal superior, Secretary Frances Perkins.

Miss Perkins is far from the easiest person in the world to get along with. Secretive and suspicious, she is very jealous of her official eminence. When she took office she balked for months at accepting McGrady, for fear he would overshadow her. It was only after General Johnson made him labor adviser of the NRA and McGrady demonstrated his remarkable talents as a conciliator that she asked the President to transfer him to her department.

PERKINS VS. MCGRADY
Weeks often went by without direct communication between Miss Perkins and McGrady. On the several occasions that she personally attempted to cope with a labor conflict, she carefully kept him out of the picture—to her sorrow. In no instance has she settled a strike by herself.

Yet, never by word or act did McGrady show impatience or resentment, or seek the credit due him. Once, after Miss Perkins had haughtily rejected a suggestion by McGrady—which he made at the request of a White House adviser—a colleague remonstrated with him at his forbearance.

"I wouldn't stand for such treatment," he said, "everybody knows you are carrying the load in the department."

"I am working for Franklin Roosevelt," McGrady replied quietly. "He has to stand for a lot and I guess I can too."

Only a few of McGrady's closest friends know it, but he was all set to quit last December.

At F. D. R.'s request, McGrady again turned down the job, which would have paid him more than twice his salary from the government, and remained until congress adjourned.

POVERTY TO FAME
McGrady began life 65 years ago in a slum section of Boston. His father was a day laborer, and the family of six lived in three small tenement rooms that lacked light and running water.

At the age of 9 McGrady went to work as a newsboy. There followed a variety of jobs—pin-boy in a bowling alley, telegraph messenger, bellhop, mill hand. Then he became an apprentice pressman on a Boston newspaper.

Simultaneously, he joined the pressmen's union and began his long career in the labor movement.

He also took a lively interest in politics, served several terms on the Boston city council and in the Massachusetts legislature. When he was 40 years old, McGrady was elected president of the Web Pressmen's Union and held this post until 1919. In that year the late Samuel Gompers summoned him to Washington to become head of the legislative bureau of the American Federation of Labor.

In this job he began his work as a conciliator. His experiences would fill a large volume with exciting stories.

On one occasion, while attempting to settle a rayon strike in Elizabethton, Tenn., he was routed out of bed late at night by a mob of armed men who said they were taking him for a "ride." "Having lived in Chicago," McGrady relates, "that meant only one thing to me. But after taking me about five miles out of town, they freed me and told me not to come back or they would shoot me."

McGrady was back the next morning.

During the great maritime strike on the Pacific Coast in 1934 he came within an inch of being killed, a bullet grazing his head during a riot.

YOUTHFUL LOOKING
One of the most remarkable things about McGrady is his youthful appearance. Although he takes no exercise, plays no sport, works 15 and 18 hours a day, laughs at diets and smokes almost continuously, he acts and looks like a man of 45. He is slender, brisk and dapper. A woman once asked him how he managed to "ward off old age."

"By never worrying about it," he replied.

"But surely," she insisted, "there must be more to it than that."

"Well," McGrady replied, "I am very fond of corned beef and cabbage."

Outside of his work, McGrady's only interest is his grandchildren. He has three, all boys.

He collects postage stamps for them, brings them gifts and has long discussions about football and baseball. Wherever he goes, no matter how busy he is, he always takes time to write each a letter.

While in Washington, McGrady lived with Mrs. Alfred Fleming, one of his two married daughters. The other, Mrs. Nathaniel Simmons, resides in Stoneham, Mass. His two sons died in youth.

McGrady is one of the best public speakers in labor ranks. Keen-witted and self-possessed, he always talks extemporaneously. But every address is carefully worked over in advance. He never speaks unless he is prepared.

He learned that lesson early in his career. During a local Boston campaign he was making a political speech one night when a man in the audience shouted, "We know taxes are high, but what is your man going to do about it?"

"We are going to reduce them," McGrady retorted.

"How?"

"He had me there," McGrady relates. "I didn't know how. It was very embarrassing, and I never forgot that lesson. I've had a lot of 'how's' thrown at me since, but I've never been caught off base again."

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely salutary. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

NAZI STORY "RIDICULOUS"
To the Editor: The story in your paper about Nazi plan to seize United States is too ridiculous to get excited about anyhow in these hot days.

Those Communists who investigated "without and within" carry German names, but they belong in the ranks of the Soviet Russians spies.

The German-American Bund consists of only American citizens of German descent who know the danger of Communism and its organizers and who will at any time fight to defend the constitution of the U. S. A.

Senator Borah had better investigate the secret agencies of Moscow in America and report on these aliens who destroy American institutions and family life.

A MEMBER.
The American-German Bund of Orange.

LET MONEY FIGHT
To the Editor: By all means let the U. S. keep out of foreign messes. We've had enough of war and its after-effects. If Capitalism wants war, let Capitalism "fight."

The workers and "same" people are content with the comforts of life and are seeking peace and a sense of security.

They are not money mad. So let the money-mad do the fighting. Our boys have had enough of it, our mothers and our widows.

STAY OUT OF CHINA
To the Editor: Let's not kid ourselves into sending a few million of our young men to China to be put to death with shot, shell and cholera.

Let's not spend a few billion dollars to save a few hundred missionaries that God can not, or will not, protect.

As to protecting property for big or little business, that is a joke not to be tolerated. So get all Americans out of China that want to leave.

One Man's Opinion

By J. REPORTER
TRULY RURAL—AND HOW
This summer I am trading some sleep for some beauty, and some of the so-called refinements of urban civilization for some perfect rest and quiet. And I am perfectly satisfied that I am getting the best of the bargain.

Among other things, I have traded a 10-minute auto ride (or 35 minutes on foot) for a 25-minute trolley ride plus a 20-minute boat ride. I'm now truly rural and (in the vernacular) how!

There is no through road within a mile of my bedroom window. The night sounds which are natural to that al fresco domicile are the occasional call of a night-bird, the choral music of tree frogs and crickets, the rare and distant hum of a boat's motor, and whatever stertorous sounds the master of the bedroom himself may make (so I've been told).

The trolley part of the traveling arrangement is its weakest link. The trolley line is long and bumpy, and the cars are generally crowded. Later on, however, or some other form of informal and individual transportation may out the trolley from my scheme of things.

I said I had traded sleep for beauty. Before the move the family had a rose or two, a lawn, hyacinths in spring (and those are important), some pretty shrubs and a life-prolonged view of an unbelievable mountain.

But now we have several miles of blue water each day, a boat ride upon the commutation method, an expanse of cedary and fiery forest, wild birds of all kinds, a dooryard swimming pool a mile wide, a lawn, lots of roses, hyacinths in spring and a daily view of the same mountain as the backdrop of a matchless marine view.

Anyhow, we're up the two foregoing paragraphs will see exactly what the net gains. Who wouldn't give up half an hour's sleep each day in such a trade?

The strangest part of it all—and this is the only reason for detailing affairs so personal—that before the trade walked up to me and pleaded its case I would not have thought it possible.

The point of the whole story is that it was possible all the time—and is possible right now to more city dwellers than will ever admit it.

WHIMSIES

DAY BY DAY
With O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK.—Diary: Telegrams from film funsters W. C. Fields and Ted Healy. So out and had a snack at a stool lunch and the counterman and I grew grave over the muddled state of the world. Then to see Peggy Hoyt and Aubrey Eads, just back from the continent.

This day I was taken to task about the length of my hair and sunny sartorial accents and made promises of neatness. Then to say farewell to Justine Hall and her mother against departing for Florida to live. And talking to Vincent Youmans newly come, also, from a stay in Europe.

To Fannie Hurst's dinner for Daniel Frohman and August Hecksher at Billy the Oysterman's. Afterward strolling on lower Broadway and past the Marbridge building where I had my first New York office, and Keene's chop house where I used to lunch with so many now gone.

The most enthusiastic feminine night club patron is Beatrice Little. There is scarcely a night when she is playing in New York that she does not form a duo or foursome for a drop-in at one or more of the supper spots and if she is appearing in one herself goes to those that are snappiest at dawn. Night club entertainers like to see her at their tables, for she is appreciative and now and then, too, can be persuaded to step out on the floor and add to the hilarity with one of her own skits.

Entertainers are also going in for sports on the side with gusto. Jim Barton was among first to own and manage a semi-professional ball team on Long Island. Joe Cook is also owner of a team in Pennsylvania and Joe E. Brown had a heavy interest in a lesser league team. Al Johnson goes in for buying boxers and has the colored lightweight Heavyweight strong on his string. The Marx brothers also own the fighter with the comic name of Canvas Back Cohen. Bing Crosby's string of race horses have cost him a neat chunk of hard-earned money but he claims the excitement worth it. Kate Smith is the owner of a professional basketball team and Gertrude Niesen has a financial interest in Bob Nestel, the boxer.

For oblivion: Parsley and capers as garnish for food, parsnips, self-plugs and a few endearments, and that silly beautiful-boy publicity for Robert Taylor.

Charles M. Schwab recently completed his 17th crossing of the Atlantic, thus making him America's top ocean voyager. So carefully has he planned his voyage among paid passengers. Next to the steel merchant in the number of crossings is Gilbert Miller, theatrical man, whose number is far over 100. Mr. Schwab's years of ocean voyaging have, of course, taught him the trick of traveling light. He rarely takes a trunk and usually three pieces of luggage comprise his baggage. He travels with his valet and never makes plans. He may, after lunch, some day tell his secretary he wants to depart on a midnight boat. His passports are up to the minute.

He has his personal staff organized that he never goes on the ship at sailing time and everything, cabin, deck chair, dining room place and all have been arranged. During many of his early crossings he suffered sea sickness, but today he can buck the heaviest gale without quailing.

My first crossing was in a 75-mile gale all the way on the old Mauretania. Just before reaching Plymouth I staggered to the cabin door, peered out and a steward swaying in the companionway, chirped: "A bit tipsy, sir!"
